SENATE.

ISTHMUS OF DARIEN SURVEY.

On motion of Mr. HAMLIN, a resolution was adopted directing the Secretary of the Navy to furnish the Senate with copies of the report and maps of the survey of the Isthmus of Darien for an inter-oceanic ship canal.

ARMING FRONTIER SETTLERS.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported without amendment the House bill authorizing the issue of 1,000 rifled breech-loaders and ammunition to the authorities of Montana for the defence of the settlers against Indians.

LOUISIANA ELECTIONS.

Mr. KELLOGG called up the bill providing that the Presidential election in Louisiana shall be held on the same day with the State election, on the first Monday in November. He said the object of the bill was to avoid the trouble and expense of two elections in succession.

Mr. MORTON said that an additional advantage of the change would be that the Presidential election would get the benefit of the protection now provided by the law for the State election.

Mr. TRUMBULL said that Mr. Morton's statement was an admission that his bill was designed to enable Congress to control, by indirect means, the Presidential election, in violation of the Constitution.

Mr. MORTON denied that he had admitted any such thing, and asked Mr. Trumbull whether he wanted to have the scenes of 1868 in Louisiana renewed, and the Presidential election held under such circumstances that it could be controlled by Ku-Klux. If he did, he might fitly oppose this bill; but if he was in favor of an honest election, he ought to support it.

Mr. TRUMBULL said Mr. Morton had stated that the object of the bill was to place the election under the protection of an act of Congress, and he asked where Congress got the authority to interfere with the Presidential election in the face of an express provision of the Constitution that it is to be held in each State in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct. He knew what the protection spoken of by Mr. Morton might mean. It might be the protection afforded by a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, and the presence of military power. He was in favor of an honest election by a free people, and for that reason he was opposed to unconstitutional Congressional supervision.

Mr. MORTON said Trumbull was in favor of an honest election, but was opposed to the means by which it could be secured—like the man in favor of the Maine Liquor Law, but opposed to its enforcement. [Laughter.] The Senator knew that the election law to which he objected so strongly merely provided for the presence at the polls of two inspectors, one of each party, to see that the ballots were fairly cast and counted.

Mr. TRUMBULL—Does not the Senator know that beyond that you may do as you did in the city of New York—send escaped convicts from the penitentiary to arrest voters?

Mr. MORTON—I have heard that said before, but I have never heard it proved, and I do not believe it.

Mr. BAYARD suggested that as Mr. Morton had sought to remind the Senate of all the scenes of 1868 in Louisiana, it might be well to recall also the scenes of 1871, when the Federal authorities interferred in the quarrels of the party of which Senator Morton was so distinguished an ornament, and settled them by force of arms.

Mr. MORTON—There were some disturbances in Louisiana last fall and during the winter, but I believe that the authors of them have now joined the ranks of the Senator's (Bayard's) friends.

Mr. BAYARD—If the Senator means that, my answer is that he must be very ignorant of what my political affiliations are, or very reckless in his charges.

Mr. MORTON—If we are to infer anything from the Senator's remark, it is that those who have gone into this Liberal movement are not his political friends. We know what hopes have been held out to those who went to Cincinnati—that the Democrats would father their little enterprise and adopt their candidate. The Senator from Delaware now disclaims that, but we shall know better in a few weeks what the Democracy will be.

Mr. BAYARD—The Senator from Indiana will probably be wiser three weeks hence than he is now. By that time he may know what the position of the great Democratic party, for which I make no pretense to speak, is, and what the great organization intends to do for the benefit of this country. But he cannot know it until the accredited representatives of the party have spoken. Perhaps he will have learned, too, by that time to appreciate the motives of a political opponent, whose object in legislating is not that laws shall be made to benefit, by indirection or otherwise, the party to which he is attached, but that laws shall be made that shall conserve the liberties of all the people, whether they are his political opponents or his political friends.

Mr. BLAIR opposed the bill, and with reference to the New Orleans troubles in 1868, said it would not have occurred but for the action of the Secretary of War in supressing a telegram sent by the military commander in New Orleans notifying the President that a riot was imminent, and there were many who believed that that telegram was suppressed with the design of letting a riot occur, and making use of it as a pretext for the harsh measures contemplated at that time by the party in power.

POSTOFFICE APPROPRIATION BILL.

At the expiration of the morning hour, the bill went over, and the unfinished business, the postoffice appropriation bill, came up.

The amendment offered by Mr. Nye yesterday, and pending at adjournment, was agreed to and the bill was then passed.

TERRITORIAL ELECTIONS.

On motion of Mr. NYE, a vote on the bill fixing the time for elections in Washington and Idaho territories was reconsidered, and the bill passed.

Mr. STEWART moved to take up the Goat Island bill and have it read to-morrow.

GENERAL AMNESTY BILL.

Without acting on the motion, the Senate, on motion of Mr. BOREMAN, took up the House general amnesty bill and addressed the Senate in favor of it.

Mr. SUMNER moved to strike out all after the enacting clause, and insert the supplementary civil rights bill.

Mr. FERRY (Conn.) raised the point that the motion was not in order.

The Vice President decided that it was in order.

Mr. TRUMBULL appealed from the decision of the chair.

After a long discussion of the question of order, on motion of Mr. CARPENTER, the appeal was laid on the table.

Mr. MORTON moved to amend so as to provide that before any person shall be entitled to the benefit of the act he shall swear that he is not and has not been at any time within two years preceding the passage of this act a member of either the "Invisible Empire of America," the "White Brotherhood," or the "Constitutional Union Guard," nor any branch of the "Ku-Klux Klan."

Mr. HILL moved to amend the bill so as to grant universal amnesty.

Mr. SHERMAN advocated the adoption of Mr. Sumner's bill as a substitute for the amnesty bill, for the purpose of giving the House an opportunity for a fair vote on the question of civil rights, and said he believed that if that question were out of the way, a general amnesty bill would pass the Senate by a three-fourths vote. He thought, however, that there was very little chance of an amnesty bill passing the Senate until the House should have an opportunity to vote on the civil rights bill.

Mr. TRUMBULL said that when he had heard Mr. Boreman, one of the earliest and most zealous advocates of the prescription, call up and advocate the Amnesty bill this morning, he had hailed it as a sign that the time had come at last when all political disabilities were to be removed; but he now said that he was mistaken, and that this amnesty bill, like its predecessors, was to be tampered with and killed off by indirection.

Mr. SHERMAN said that both the civil rights bill and amnesty bill were necessary in order to produce peace and harmony through the country.

Mr. STEWART expressed the opinion that the policy of exclusion was unwise, and that it had operated as a great obstacle to the success of reconstruction. He, therefore, favored the passage of the amnesty bill, and opposed Mr. Sumner's amendment.

Mr. BOREMAN said there was something in the civil rights bill that he favored, but he certainly would not vote to substitute it for the amnesty bill.

Mr. MORTON withdrew his amendment.

An agreement was made that the general debate on the bill and amendments shall terminate at 3 o'clock to-morrow, and that the bill shall be shut out.

The Senate amendments to the house bill to provide that minors shall not be enlisted without the consent of their parents or guardians was concurred in.

The Senate bill to prohibit the retention of soldiers' discharges on land warrants by claim agents and attorneys, was passed with an amendment.

The Senate bill to enable the President to appoint the Paymaster General of the army was reported and gave rise to considerable discussion on the point whether this bill should be amended by making the Paymaster General's rank that of Colonel. The amendment was agreed to, and the bill passed.

The House adjourned.

HOUSE.

SUPPLEMENTARY APPORTIONMENT BILL.

The House took up the supplementary apportionment bill, increasing the aggregate number of 283 representatives, as fixed by the apportionment law of this session, to 292, the additional nine being given to New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama and Florida, to be elected by separate districts, except for the Forty-third Congress, when they may be elected on the general ticket.

Mr. MERCUR, who reported the bill from the Judiciary Committee, addressed the House in explanation and advocacy of it.

The bill was passed without a division.

BRIDGE OVER LAKE ST. CROIX.

The Senate bill authorizing the construction of a railroad bridge across St. Croix Lake at Hudson, Wis., was taken up and passed.

THE TARIFF AND TAX BILL.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Scofield in the chair, on the tariff and tax bill.

Mr. DAWES stated that the reduction in the revenue, which he estimated would be effected if the bill should become a law, would be forty millions.

Mr. Dawes moved to strike out the items tea and coffee.

The question of free tea and coffee gave rise to a lengthy discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. Kelley, Beck, Wood, Cox, Kerr, Randall, Banks, Morgan, Porter and Farnsworth.

At the close of the discussion, the duties on tea and coffee were struck out of the bill.

Mr. RITCHEE moved to increase the duty on bituminous coal and shale from fifty cents to one dollar per ton.

Mr. FOSTER (Pa.) moved to strike out the whole paragraph.

This subject also gave rise to a lengthy discussion. At the close of the discussion Mr. Ritchie's amendment was rejected.

Mr. MCGREW moved to make the rate seventy-five cents a ton. Agreed to—80 to 78.

Mr. FOSTER's motion to strike out the paragrapn was rejected.

On motion of Mr. DAWES, a new item was inserted as follows: "On culm of coal, fifteen per cent. ad valorem."

Mr. BUELL moved to amend the item of salt by making the duty twelve instead of eight cents per pound.

The salt question gave rise to another long discussion, which had not closed when the committee, at half-past four, rose, and the House took a recess until half-past seven, the evening session to be for business of the Committee on Military Affairs.

MILITARY BILLS PASSED.

Evening Session.—The bill that was before the House at the adjournment last evening, to enable honorably discharged soldiers, their widows and orphans, to acquire homesteads on public lands, came up first in order, and was recommitted.

The following bills were reported from the Committee on Military Affairs, and passed.

The House bill to amend the act of the 22d of February, 1867, to establish and protect national cemeteries.

Mr. SLOCUM reported the House bill providing that all retired officers of the army shall be retired at their actual, not their brevet, rank, and with the pay prescribed for retired officers of the same rank in the regular army.

The bill gave rise to a long discussion, the opposition to it being on the ground that it was intended to apply to existing cases, instead of being confined to the future.

At the close of the discusion, Mr. HALE moved an amendment that the bill shall not apply to cases of officers heretofore retired under the provisions of the law. Negatived.

Mr. LYNCH moved to lay the bill on the table. Negatived.

The bill was then passed without a division.

CINCINNATI.

A German View of American Politics—The Colored People and the Liberals.

CINCINNATI, May 8.—The Volksblatt this morning has the following: The fate of Mr. Adams in the Cincinnati Convention has again shown that in American politics only that man has a chance who will descend to trading and trafficking, to make promises, and make use of all those other means and tricks usually resorted to at conventions. The man who is too manly, and has too much self-respect for this, will be passed by. What do politicians care for statesmanlike qualities and capacity? They want a man whom they can use as a tool. Charles Francis Adams would have been altogether too independent and unpliable for them. He would not have asked the blacksmith how to play the organ, and he would not have turned to the organist to learn how a horse must be shod. His qualifications would have enabled him to stand on his own feet. Politicians have no use for such a man.

THE COLORED PEOPLE AND THE LIBERALS.

The Commercial of this morning publishes a communication from Peter H. Clark, a prominent colored Republican leader here. The Commercial says in an editorial notice that Mr. Clark is a close observer of the Liberal tendencies and has recently traveled in the South. Mr. Clark, in his communication, says if the Greeley party are building any hopes on the oft-repeated assertion that the colored people of the South will vote for their candidate, they are surely doomed to disappointment. That some of the colored men will be found on their side is, perhaps, true; some colored men have been found to vote the straight Democratic ticket, but the number is small, and not likely to increase. The fact that the Republican party is the instrument which has freed and enfranchised him, which guards him in the exercise of his rights as a freeman, which promises great future good, is known, and well known, to the dullest black in the South, and if he can get a chance to approach the ballot-box uninterrupted, he will vote for the candidate of that party. He says, in conclusion, to the Republicans of the South, that every man who is not in their camp will be regarded as an enemy. They will seek to maintain the party organization intact, and will vote solid for the nominee of the Philadelphia Convention.

ST. LOUIS.

Photographers' Convention—The Custom House Site.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—The third annual Convention of the National Photographers' Association met at Polytechnic Hall this morning. The attendance was very large from all parts of the Union. President A. V. Bogardus, of New York, presided, and delivered a brief address. Letters were received from Anthony, of New York, Loomis, of Boston, and others, regretting their inability to be present. Treasurer Wilson's report was read, showing the association to be in a flourishing condition.

The President presented gold and silver medals for the greatest improvement in photography in 1870, the first to Lyman G. Bigelow, and the second to Col. Wilcox. Medals for 1871 were awarded to Jno. R. Clemens, and Scoville, and the Bendam Bros., of Baltimore.

An amendment to the constitution making the Secretary elective every year, the same as other officers, was offered by Secretary Wilson, which was adopted, after which Secretary Wilson offered his resignation, which was laid on the table.

The report of the executive committee was read, giving a flattering account of the association, and stating that 224 new members had joined it during the year.

An essay was then delivered by A. S. Southworth, of Boston. President Bogardus then delivered the annual address, in which he discussed the object and scope of the organization, its past and probable future, and drew a highly flattering picture of its usefulness.

One hundred and fifty new members joined the association since it convened here, making the full membership about 1,100, a result far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of the originators of the association.

MEETING OF DEMOCRATS.

Call Issued for a National Convention.

JUDGE STOREY INTERVIEWED.

NEW YORK, May 8, 1872.

MEETING OF THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Democratic National Executive Committee met this afternoon at the residence of August Belmont. Eight States were unrepresented—California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, Oregon, and Mississippi. The places most prominently mentioned for holding the convention were Baltimore, St. Louis, Louisville, and Indianapolis. After a secret session of some hours, Baltimore was finally decided upon as the place for holding the convention.

The proceedings began shortly after two o'clock. Belmont occupied the chair. A motion was made, but lost, that the call for the Democratic Convention should be indefinitely postponed. Next came the question as to the time for holding the Democratic Convention. Great diversity of opinion prevailed on this point, a large number of delegates expressing their opinion that the Convention should be held on a day anterior to the Philadelphia Convention, while others urged that in the present disorganized condition of the Democratic party, the wisest plan would be to fix a date which would allow of the result of the Philadelphia Convention being known. This opinion prevailed, and the 8th of July was determined on as the date on which the Convention should be held.

Next came the question as to where the Convention should be held. Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Louisville were the contesting cities. The choice was carried in favor of Baltimore by a vote of three to one, the principle ground urged being that in that city less undue outside influence would be brought to bear on the proceedings of the Convention than in any other city.

The following is the call for the National Democratic Convention:

The National Democratic Committee, by virtue of the authority conferred upon them by the last National Democratic Convention, at a meeting held this day at New York, voted to hold the next convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United Statas on the 9th day of July, 1872, at 12 o'clock M., in the city of Baltimore. The basis of representation, as fixed by the last Democratic convention, is double the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress in each State under the apportionment of the census of 1870. Each State will send delegates accordingly, and we invite the cordial co-operation of all conservative citizens who desire the restoration of Constitutional government and the perpetuation of republican institutions. Signed—John Forsyth, John M. Harrell, Wm. M. Converse, Jas. Ponder, Chas. E. Dyke, A. H. Colquitt, Wilbur F. Story, Wm. E. Niblack, Isaac E. Eaton, Thos. C. McCreary, Albert Voorhees, Sylvanus R. Lyman, Odin Bowie, Wm. A. Moore, Charles W. Nash, Chas. E. Hooper, Charles A. Mantz, G. T. Miller, J. W. McCorkle, Harry Bingham, John McGregor, John G. Thompson, Jas. P. Barr, Gideon Bradford, Charles H. Simonton, Wm. B. Bates, John Hancock, H. B. Smith, Jno. Goode, August Belmont, Chairman; Frederick O. Prance, Secretary.

After the session of the committee, a reporter interviewed Mr. Storey, a delegate from Illinois, and proprietor of the Chicago Times. He spoke frankly on the whole subject. In reply to a question as to whether the proceedings had been of a harmonious character, he replied that as the meeting had only to deal with the question of the time and place for holding the Convention, there was little scope for any expression of opinion on the great issues involved.

Reporter—Was there any expression of a desire to endorse the nomination of Horace Greeley?

Storey—Well, yes; the delegate from Kansas, supported by the delegates from Tennessee and some other States, expressed themselves in favor of endorsing Greeley, and a lengthened discussion took place on this subject. The difficulty was ended by the chairman insisting on a return to the strict questions as to the time and place for holding the convention.

Reporter—Was there any expression of opinion, either publicly or privately, as to who would be the probable nominee of the Democratic party?

Storey—None; the meeting could not deal with that question.

Reporter—What is the sentiment in the West in regard to the nomination of Greeley by the Cincinnati Convention?

Storey—My belief is that the Democracy of the West will not support Greeley. His whole political career has been such as to make him unpopular with men who hold such decided Democratic views as those held by the Democrats of the West.

Reporter—Who do you think will be the nominee of the Baltimore Convention?

Storey—Well, the Baltimore Convention may not nominate a Democrat. It is not likely that Judge Davis will receive the nomination. It is certain that he can carry New York, Indiana and Pennsylvania. If he had been nominated by the Cincinnati Convention, there might have been no necessity for a Democratic Convention.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

In the Methodist General Conference to-day, the Bishop's quadrennial message was read. It directs special attention to the subject of district conference, and claims that two sessions a year are insufficient. The Church is congratulated on the increased usefulness of theological institutions, and recommends an appropriate denominational programme for celebrating the centennial of American independence.

An address of fraternal greeting was read from the British Wesleyan Conference. It commends its delegates, and expresses fervent hope for a speedy and peaceable settlement of the threatened misunderstanding between the two countries.

Rev. Luke H. Wiseman and Rev. Morely Punshon, delegates, delivered eloquent addresses, which were frequently applauded, during which it was stated that in the past four years over one million dollars per annum were realized in Great Britain for Methodist church building and extension, and one hundred thousand persons were admitted to the Church. It is also extending in Italy. A large block of property was purchased in the heart of Rome for a church, schools, etc.

Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, a fraternal delegate from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, presented his credentials, and adressed the body. Fraternal delegates from the Irish Conference of the Canadian Church and Methodist Church of America were also introduced.

Adjourned.

STOKES' CASE.

If a Judge can be obtained to preside over the Court of Oyer and Terminer, it is the intention of the District Attorney to bring the case of Stokes to a final issue during the present term. In the meantime the prisoner is extremely dejected over the desertion of his counsel, Messrs. Graham and Gerry, and is completely at sea with regard to the selection of their successors. It is intimated that ex-District Attorney Pierrepont will be associated with Mr. McKeon, Stokes' remaining counsel.

The writer says, "Their performances are exceedingly good, that their action is fine, and that their time and feathering are simply perfect. They are, nevertheless, somewhat deficient in dash and power; betray a disposition to hang at the finish of the stroke, and do not pick out the blades clearly and promptly. Practice will, however, rectify these faults." The London boatmen all regard the New Yorkers as a fine and able crew, whose appearance on the river is very showy, and elicits the admiration of spectators. A great struggle is certain on the 10th of June.

PARIS, May 8.—The Legitimist journals here insist that the battle at Oraquieta was not decisive of the fate of the Carlist reign. Don Carlos writes on the 6th to the Duchess of Madrid, that his prospects are excellent; that he could announce good news, but refrains for prudential motives.

The Carlist organs deny that Roda or any other leader has returned to France, and assert that the insurrectionary forces are masters of all Biscay and important points in Guipuzcoa, and hold possession of the railway between Minanda and Irun; that the bands under Castello and Alegre are in the Catalonian provinces and others hovering on the borders of Feruel and Farragona.

TARIFF CHANGES WANTED.

OTTAWA, May 8.—In the House last night Sir O. T. Hinck said that a week ago, in making the financial statement, he anticipated the possibility of having to make a change in the Canadian tariff on account of the tariff changes in the United States. The Government had learned that last night the President had signed a bill making important tariff changes, to operate from the 1st of July next, repealing the duties on tea and coffee. The Canadian Government, therefore, proposed that from the 1st of July next the duties on tea and coffee imported into the Dominion should be repealed. He gave notice that on Friday next he would move for permission to do so. Grave inconveniences had followed the uncertainty prevalent for months in the United States as to what would be done with regard to those articles, but the Canadian Government designed to prevent anything of the kind here, and hence the promptitude of the Government's decision of its policy.

SCHOONER SUNK.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 8.—The master of the schooner Oliver Budge reports that on the 1st he fell in with a loaded schooner from Yarmouth almost under water, with both masts lying across the deck. The dead bodies of two men were found in the cabin. She is supposed to be the schooner Bessie Gardner, of Yarmouth, for some time missing.

MEXICO.

THE REVOLUTION DYING OUT.

NEW YORK, May 8.—A special from Matamoras says Trevino's force is reduced by desertion to eleven pieces of artillery, seven hundred infantry and four hundred cavalry. His army is completely demoralized and destitute, and the majority of the officers are shoeless. The men are without pay or food, and are stealing and begging. The country is cleared of horses, cattle and small stock, and the whole army is afraid of Cevallos pursuing. Should the Government force appear, Trevino's army would dissolve and abandon their wagons, artillery and everything. It is evident Trevino never intended to attack Matamoras. He was told that the National Guard would open the city to him. Trevino says that Juarez is certain to be overthrown by this or another revolution. There is no confidence between the officers and men of the revolutionary force.

A Herald Mexican special says: "The universal opinion among the leaders here is that Diaz is dead, and the report of his being in Jalisco is untrue. Nothing is know of Government operations in the interior. There is no sign of a force coming hither. Many commissions from the interior are here. They expected to buy arms after Matamoras was taken, and regard the failure as the death blow of the revolutionary cause."

GERMANY.

PERSONALS.

BERLIN, May 8.—Emperor William will soon go to Ems to drink its waters.

Bismarck retires to his estates, and will abstain from active participation in public affairs for several months.

The Provincial Correspondence reports that the Pope declines to receive Prince Hohenlohe as Ambassador from Germany, and pronounces the action of the Holy Father as a striking evidence of his want of appreciation of Germany's friendliness and disposition to conciliate.

INDIA.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

LONDON, May 8.—A telegram from Bombay brings intelligence of most disastrous floods in the Southern part of British India. The town of Vellore, the presidency of Madras, has suffered terribly. It is stated that one thousand persons were drowned. The inhabitants of the town lost everything they possessed, the water having washed away the houses and left them perfectly destitute.

WEST INDIES.

SUGAR CROP FAVORABLE.

HAVANA, May 8.—Reports of the condition of the sugar crop received from various parts of the island continue favorable. It is now thought that the yield will be much larger than was at first expected.

CLEVELAND.

Soldiers' Reunion.

CLEVELAND, May 8.—The National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic met this morning. None but members of the society were admitted. The commander-in-chief of the organization, General Burnside, addressed the meeting. In the course of his speech, he said that during the past year he had used his best efforts to further such legislation in Congress as would benefit his comrades. He declared himself in favor of the bounty land bill, because he felt that the remainder of the public land should be kept for actual settlement and the benefits that would be derived from such a bill would not compensate for public harm. In regard to the various measures proposed to secure larger pensions for disabled comrades, he said if the efforts of the comrades were concentrated on some well considered plan to secure liberal provisions for those entitled to it, nearer justice could be secured. General Burnside congratulated the Encampment on the general healthy condition of the Order, and hoped the coming year would prove more prosperous. He said they were not assembled to consult as to what is best for their own personal interests, nor as to what is most conducive to the success of any political party, but as representatives of an organization composed of survivors of the struggle made by the loyal people of our country for the preservation of our national government. While they should declare themselves loyalists in the extreme, they should declare charity toward their late enemies in the field, who have now, or may hereafter, recognize the great wrong they have done our country, and that he fully endorsed the theory of forgiving those who fought against us, and granting them all the amnesty which Congress may deem right and proper; but he found it more difficult to forgive those men in the North, who had all the light before them, who, when their comrades were in the field, risking everything, sat in safe quarters at home, either croaked at inefficiency or shivered with fear to such an extent as to make them ask for a compromise.

The business meeting of the Society of the Cavalry Corps of the armies of the United States met at half past twelve. General Sheridan, the President, on taking the chair, expressed his pleasure at meeting so many veteran troops, and hoped the meeting would give itself to the work of effecting a permanent organization. Some changes in the name and constitution seemed necessary, and a committee has been charged with the work of preparing a report on the subject. The committee offered an amended constitution, which, after discussion, was adopted. The constitution declares that this society shall be known as the Society of the Cavalry Corps of the Army of Potomac and of the Cavalry of the Armies of the United States. It provides that any honorably discharged officer or soldier, who at any time served in said cavalry, shall be entitled to membership, and all officers and members who served in the Cavalry of the Shenandoah are considered as belonging to the society.

Some dissatisfaction was expressed by Western members at the course of the society in the matter, and several left the meeting.

This evening the Reunion closed with a grand banquet at the Central Rink. The building was handsomely decorated with flags, banners, &c. Between three and four hundred guests sat down to the tables. Large numbers of ladies and gentlemen occupied the galleries.

The following was the list of toasts:

1st—The Army of the Potomac, and Gettysburg, General Geo. G. Meade.

2d—The President of the United States—Gen. Chas. Devers, Jr.

3d—The Army and Navy—Gen. Jos. Hooker.

4th—The Union—Gen. H. Sharp.

5th—The Armies of the West—Gen. J. C. Lee.

6th—The Cavalry and Sheridan's Ride—Lieut Gen. P. H. Sheridan.

9th—The Grand Army of the Republic—Gen. A. E Burnside.

10th—Our Dead Heroes—drank, standing and in silence.

11th—Our Citizen Soldiers and Soldier Citizens—Gen. Henry E. Davis Jr.

12th—The Loyal Woman—Gen. Stewart L. Walford.

POLITICAL.

New York Colored Republican Convention.

TROY, N. Y., May 8.—The Colored Republican State Convention met here to-day, and unanimously pledged the colored voters of the State to support the nominees of the Philadelphia Convention.

Pennsylvania Labor Reform Convention.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., May 8.—The Labor Reformers completed their ticket this morning, with the exception of members to the Constitutional Convention, by the nomination of James H. Hopkins, of Allegheny, and J. W. Cake, of Northumberland, for Congressmen at large.

The Convention adjourned.

The Illinois Democracy.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The adjourned meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee this afternoon was very brief. A resolution authorizing the executive board of the State Central Committee to call a State Convention, to be held two weeks prior to the date fixed by the Democratic National Executive Committee for the assembling of the National Convention, was passed without formal debate, and the Committe adjourned.

The general tone of opinion, as expressed in conversation and an interchange of views, appeared to be in favor of an endorsement of the Cincinnati ticket by the Democratic National Convention, as against any ticket likely to be nominated at Philadelphia.

A meeting of editors of Democratic newspapers of Illinois was held here to-day. Eighteen Journals, located at various points in the State, were represented. After considerable discussion, and the voting down of a resolution unreservedly endorsing the platform and candidates of the Cincinnati Convention, a resolution was adopted to the effect that if the Cincinnati candidates were nominated by the National Convention, the Democratic press of Illinois would give these candidates a hearty support.

New Hampshire Republican Convention.

CONCORD, N. H., May 8.—The Republican Convention to elect delegates to the National Convention met in Phœnix Hall this morning. Hon. E. H. Rollins, chairman of the Republican State Committee, made some brief remarks, and then announced the permanent organization of the convention as follows: President—Mason W. Tappan; Vice-Presidents—one delegate from each county; Secretaries—Chester B. Jordan, Thos. C. Rand and Geo. O. Marston; Committees on credentials and resolutions—one delegate from each county. The following delegates at large to the convention were elected: Frederick Smyth, Thomas M. Edwards, Ossean Ray, Wm. H. Y. Hackett and James M. Johnson.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the administration and favoring the nomination of Grant and Wilson, of Massachusetts, at Philadelphia.

The Convention was fully attended, and the deliberations were harmonious. The sentiment was unanimously in favor of the nomination of Grant, though some of the leaders are known to regard Greeley with favor. The speech of President Tappan was decidedly non-committal, and was a subject of considerable comment among the delegates.

PHILADELPHIA.

American Medical Association.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—At the session of the American Medical Association, a report was read from the Committee on Medical Education suggesting that no more charters be granted for medical colleges which do not adopt the plan for education endorsed by this Association, and that the Legislature be asked to revoke all charters for colleges not adopting the plan of the association, and that no delegates be admitted from institutions refusing to adopt such plan.

A resolution that physicians attending families by contract or by the year, or who bid for practice at less rates than regular graduates, shall be classed among irregular practitioners, was adopted.

Refunding Taxes to Judges.

COURT OF CLAIMS DECISION.

The Eight Hour Question.

WASHINGTON, May 8, 1872.

THE TARIFF AND TAX BILL.

The House Committee of the Whole on the Tariff and Tax bill, after a lengthy discussion, participated in by Messrs. Kelley, Beck, Wood, Cox, Kerr, Randall, Banks, Morgan, Potter and Farnsworth, struck out of the bill the duties on tea and coffee.

CLAIM DECISION.

The Court of Claims to-day rendered judgment in the case of Joseph R. A. Ware against the United States for the claimant. Ware was a Treasury clerk, and his salary was docked eighty-six dollars for absence by reason of sickness, notwithstanding that the physician's certificate was produced. Ware contended that the Secretary of the Treasury had no legal right to deduct from salaries, and that the physician's certificate was unnecessary, but if produced, was conclusive of the duty of the Secretary to pay the salary provided by law. The Court decided for claimant on both grounds.

THE EIGHT HOUR QUESTION.

A committee of workingmen from New York had an interview with Secretary Boutwell today. The Secretary received them kindly, and agreed with the committee that there had clearly been an evasion of the eight hour law, and stated to the chairman of the committee that proper action would be taken in the premises and orders immediately sent to New York to have the law enforced on the new Postoffice and Custom House buildings. The committee then waited on the President to thank him for his kindness and courtesy to their interest. The President said he had instructed the Attorney General to prepare an order for the enforcement of the eight hour law on all Government works.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

A falling barometer, southerly winds, cloudy weather, and rain will prevail on Thursday from the Ohio valley northward, and extend over the northern portion of the Middle States; and partially cloudy weather is probable for the New England and Middle Atlantic States, with easterly to southerly winds; and for the Southern States with southerly winds. A rising barometer and north-westerly winds will extend southeastward over the north-west and upper lake region. Dangerous winds are not anticipated.

REFUNDING TAX.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that the tax on the salaries of the Judges of the United States Courts, whose commissions date subsequent to the passage of the refunding act, can only be refunded from the date of the approval of the act. Those whose commissions dated after the approval of the act, the tax will be refunded from the date of the commission.

SENTENCE CONFIRMED.

The finding of the naval general court martial in the case of Captain Thomas H. Stevens, who commanded the Guerriere, by which he was sentenced to be suspended from rank and duty for three years, has been confirmed by the Secretary of the Navy.

THE CUSTOM HOUSE SITE.

The Government Commissioners for the selection of a site for a new Custom House and Postoffice to-day reconsidered their action by which the block bounded by Seventh, Eighth, Fine and Chestnuts streets was selected, and reopened the whole matter.

POSTMASTER NOMINATED.

The President has nominated Mr. Brainard as postmaster in Iowa City, Iowa.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, May 7, 1872.

GENERAL GRANT THE NEGRO'S FRIEND.

The N. O. Republican, a paper devoted to the interests of a clique of the colored population of that section, who think that kissing the boots of Charles Sumner and denouncing President Grant should constitute negro religion, recently published a lengthy diatribe on the President's opposition to negroes during the war in his military capacity. Knowing that the allegations contained in the article were in the very face of all that had been hitherto known of Gen. Grant's treatment of colored men, I yesterday procured an interview with an ex-Attorney General now here, whom I know to have been identified with the care of colored men during the war, under orders from President Lincoln. He is most reliable authority, and speaks from personal knowledge of the facts called in question.

He informed me that he was directed early in 1862 to report in person to General Grant, and that he, as a General, had always used every possible effort to protect and provide for the comfort of the colored people with whom he came in contact. In November, 1862, when he reached Northern Mississippi and struck the great belt of colored population, General Grant far exceeded strict orders and always went to the verge of Congressional permission in issuing stores and supplies required for giving them food, shelter and protection, and that he took special pains to provide for their industry and self-support. The proclamation of emancipation was not issued until the following January, which shows that he was far in advance of orders, and of public sentiment which prevailed among Union men at the time. He sent large numbers of them who came to ask his protection to safe places in the North. When subsequently Gen. Thomas arrived in the valley with authority to enlist colored men as soldiers, he was most cordially welcomed by General Grant, to whose influence the success of their enlistment was largely due. In fact, one company of colored soldiers had been organized, armed, and placed on duty long before Gen. Thomas arrived, and before the War Department or any other lawful authority had permitted it.

This ex-officer assures me that the cordial, but unpretending heartiness with which General Grant advanced the interests of the colored people during the war was the subject of the freely expressed gratification of President Lincoln to him in person on account of the support which General Grant's influence lent to his plans in their favor.

The orders and letters of General Grant during the war will not fail to show the utter falsity of these charges. His general order, disbanding the army, contains a positive statement of opinion which was not then, or is not even yet, generally coincided in by army officers, to the effect that he fully recognized slavery as the cause, and its abolition, as the results of the war.

DEBT REDUCTION.

The following is a very neat showing for a little over three years of financial management:

Our national debt is now reduced $2,278,519,-598.54. Of this sum, $426,164,701.28 bears no interest, leaving the interest bearing sum of $1,852,354,879.26. Of this aggregate the five per cent. bonds bearing coin interest amount to $414,567,300. Of the six per cent. gold bonds, $1,388,777,100 are still outstanding. The three per cent. certificates have all been redeemed except $13,435,000. General Grant's administration has cancelled $327,719,819.29, cutting down the annual interest $21,472,069. The annual interest charge now amounts to $104,951,341; of which $83,326,626 accrue on the six per cents, $20,728,365 on the five per cents, and $896,350 on the three per cents. The aggregate of the debt above mentioned includes a cash balance of $123,329,938.59.

CALLING ENEMIES INTO COUNCIL.

Fernando Wood yesterday tried to make a sensation in the House by repeating the Democratic story that the Committee on Foreign Relations had been called by the President to meet at the State Department for consultation on the subject of the American case before the Geneva conference, and that the Democratic members had not been notified. The effort was treated with contempt by Republicans who simply denied the fact, and the matter was dropped as suddenly as it could have been conceived. Who does not know that the President not only cannot call committees of Congress into conference, but that when he asks advice in matters of Administration policy, he nor no other President has ever called upon enemies of the Administration to advise it?

GERMANS GOING BACK ON SCHURZ.

The Germans, through their newspapers, have very generally renounced all adherence to the Liberal Republican cause since the nomination of Horace Greeley, with whose name they have associated Sunday and prohibitory laws during the past thirty years. They think more of their German customs than they do of the dizzy ambition of Carl Schurz whose leadership they deny.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Senator Morton failed in an attempt to repeal the franking privilege yesterday. It was laid on the table by a vote of 29 to 22. No party issue was made on the vote, but most of the leading Republicans voted for repeal.

Senator Carpenter declared that part of the House deficiency appropriation bill which proposed to punish clerks for prosecuting claims within two years after leaving employment in the Executive Departments, was both unjust and unconstitutional. It was stricken out of the bill. Financial men in Europe are alarmed at the supposed encouragement of Democratic success by the nomination of Greeley and Brown. Gold has advanced in consequence. This will be only temporary, as the fact will be shown that the Democratic as well as the Republican party is divided by the movement.

Sumner's mixed school bill for the cities of Washington and Georgetown, if passed will go into effect only after a vote is taken by the people. The citizens will negative the proposition as none of the old Democratic residents will favor it.

The old canal is being filled rapidly, in order that it may be finished before the hot weather sets in.

AGATE.

Getting Homes.

A number of clerks in St. Louis have organized a co-operative real estate association. The plan is to obtain one hundred members, who will each pay an initiation fee of five dollars and a weekly due of one. When $5,000 has been raised, they intend to buy a piece of land within the city limits, subdivide it, sell the subdivisions to the highest bidders among their number, and then repeat the operation until each one of them has a lot. Then the same scheme is to be followed in relation to building, until the benefits of the association culminate in giving every one of its members a home, free from incumbrance. The scheme is perfectly feasible, and, if managed honestly and intelligently, is sure to succeed.

ENGLAND will doubtless maintain for some time to come, her supermacy of the seas, but Germany will soon be the undisputable mistress of the continent of Europe.

THE STATE.

THE free pew system has been adopted by the Johnstown Presbyterian church.

AND now comes the report that the artesian well at Cresson has signs of "ile."

A RURAL paper complains that there is too much Sunday base ball in the suburbs.

THE fishermen are now at work along the Susquehanna taking their spring crop of fish.

PHŒNIXVILLE now has four building associations, and another one is proposed. The people there believe in these institutions.

E. W. CAPRON, Esq., formerly of West Chester, has started a new Republican paper at Willamsport, entitled "The Daily Epitomist."

PREPARATIONS are being made in different parts of the State for holding immense gatherings of German musical societies this summer.

THE postmaster of Carpenterville, Warren county, has purchased a bloodhound to keep away the thieves from his premises, who have thrice robbed the same within a short time.

TROUT fishing has commenced with considerable activity. The efforts of the Waltonities have been attended with tolerable success, but the water is a little too cold for the speckled beauties to bite freely.

SEVERAL gentlemen of Oil City have in contemplation the erection of a large hotel on the South Side. The parties are negotiating for the fine property of Wm. L. Lay, on the corner of Front and State streets.

THE Phœnix Iron Co., on the 1st instant advanced the wages of the hands employed in the mills five per cent. This advance does not apply to the laborers who were advanced ten per cent. on the 1st of March last.

HORSE thieves, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, are operating in a number of the surrounding counties. At the Mayor's office hand bills and telegrams announcing the theft of horses in York and Columbia counties occupy conspicuous positions. Our farmers should be on the lookout for these individuals.

MEADVILLE has secured the A. & G. W. Railway shops, and Carpenter & Matthews, of this county, have been awarded the contracts for building the several structures for their conveniences. Three large buildings of brick are to be erected, at a cost of $523,000, the shops to be enclosed by Dec. 1st, 1872.

HENRY DEWEES was buried at Lancaster on Saturday. He was in his day a noted fifer, and is said to have played the fife in the grand procession with which Lafayette was welcomed to Lancaster nearly half a century ago. There is a story told by old citizens that he marched and played the fife without intermission all the way from Lancaster to Columbia, a distance of ten miles.

THE Republikaner Von Berks has the following notice of a remarkable blind old man: "Mr. Jacob Hartman, a resident of Tenth street, Reading, has attained the ripe old age of ninety years. He has been blind for eighty-seven years; kept tavern for forty-five years, four miles north of Reading, in the house known as the 'Blind Hartman's Wirthshaus.' He was his own barkeeper; was so expert in the handling of money that any attempt to cheat him was futile. He has a tenacious momory. When he was three years old his brother thrust a shoemaker's awl into his eye, which led to his total blindness. He was so well acquainted with the neighborhood that he could point with his finger to any of the houses. He is the father of ten children, of whom seven are living. He could perambulate all through Reading without assistande. He has individually gone to the office of the Republican Von Berks and paid his subscription regularly. He is also a mechanic, having repeatedly taken his clock apart and put it together, and tuned and repaired musical instruments."

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

VICTOR EMANUEL has subscribed largely for the erection of a monument to Savonarola.

JOHN MCLEOD, the well know Scottish animal painter, is dead. His speciality was that of a portrait painter of animals.

THE Municipal Council of Paris has opened a subscription to offer a banquet to M. Thiers, as a testimonial of the gratitude and esteem of the majority of the population of Paris.

THE German ordinance department has reported against the mitrailleuse, grape-shot being considered competent to furnish the maximum of slaughter with the minimum of expense.

THE London Spectator is strongly in favor of a women's university in England. It thinks that on many of the most delicate questions of modern civilization, we need the fine judgment of educated women.

TRAVELLERS say that Dublin is at present the dullest and most prosaic city on the other side of the Atlantic. The chief justice of Ireland manages to live, however, very comfortably on his salary of $25,000 in gold.

IT was mentioned casually in the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, a few days since, that the defendant's costs in the action of Tichborne vs. Lushington, would be taxed atcertainly £40,000—$200,000 in gold.

THE Anglo-America Association of London is composed of English and American residents of that city, whose purpose is to promote amity and good will between the two great countries. Tom Hughes, M. P., is the President.

THE jealousy with which the various European powers regard each other at the present time is perfectly obvious. People are prognosticating another war during the coming summer, nor does it seem entirely improbable.

ON THE 17th ultimo, the son of the Duke and Duchess of Parma, aged fifteen months, died at Carmes, in the south of France, in convulsions. The body was embalmed and sent to Warteg, the residence of the Duke, on the Lake of Constance.

IN THE excavations at Campo Varano, Rome, a statute of an infant Hercules has just been discovered, as well as a statuette, unfortunately considerably damaged. These antiquities have been transported to the royal museum of the capitol.

A REPORT which General Ladmirault, the Governor of Paris, sent M. Thiers recently, describes the political condition of Paris as very satisfactory and order as perfectly assured. The report of the Prefect of Police states that the trade and manufactures of Paris are rapidly regaining their former activity.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

A STEAM plow is in operation near Sacramento that plows an acre and a third in an hour.

A WONDERFUL discovery of gold bearing antimony is reported on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad.

REFINED nickel is worth $3 a pound. The ore is found in Pennsylvania and Missouri. The Pennsylvania mines furnish the principal supply at present, and are said to be very profitable.

THE railroads centering in Chicago generally are doing a better business than usual this season of the year, and the number of freight cars demanded is greater than at any former period.

IT is said that Fall River will have over 790,000 spindles and 18,000 looms for making cloth before the close of 1872. Lowell, her most enterprising rival, has less than 600,000 spindles operating.

AT Lawrence, Mass., 14,000 persons are employed in manufactories, the largest, and with scarcely a rival in the world, the Pacific mills, having 4,000 employes, with a monthly pay-roll reaching $122,500.

IN 1836 the United States imported $76,250,000 pounds of rice, and raised 20,118,600 pounds. The best quality then retailed for 13½ cents per pound. In 1871 the home production had grown to 92,000,000 pounds and the retail price had fallen to 9 cents.

IN Pearl street, New York, there is a mill which makes from paper such articles as milk pans, cups, bread-pans, wash-bowls, etc., which are said to be superior to wood or metal. The paper, after being pulped, is pressed into a shape, dried, enameled and subjected to a heat that would destroy some utensils of the kind. The material is light and easily handled, and does not rust, shrink, leak, or easily break.

POLITICAL.

LONG John Wentworth spent a hundred dollars telegraphing disappointments to Judge Davis.

ADMIRERS of John Brown are anxious to erect a monument to his memory at Harper's Ferry or Charlestown.

THE Baltimore Gazette wishes the National Democratic Convention called at once, and urges that it be held in that city.

THE Washington Patriot complains bitterly of the repeated absences of large numbers of Democratic members of Congress, both in the Senate and the House of Representatives.

CONGRESSMAN Young, it is said, telegraphed to Georgia, on Friday night, these few words: "There will be a Democratic convention. We are not responsible for Cincinnati. We stand by our guns."

HON. HIESTER CLYMER, we understand, warmly endorses Horace Greeley. It is given as his opinion that the Democratic party could not well unite upon a better man for the Presidency. What do the Democracy of Berks think of the idea of voting for Horace Greeley? Well may we exclaim with the poet:

"Can such things be,
And overcome us like a summer cloud,
Without our special wonder?

IT is now universally conceded that if there is anything which they understand better at Cincinati than packing pork, it is packing a convention.

Seventh Ward, Allegheny,

AT AUCTION.

Sale on Monday, May 13.

The special attention of intending lot buyers is directed to the large and very attractive auction sale to take place on the premises, at 2 o'clock, on the property of James Andrews, adjoining properties of Robert Henderson, Wm. Hamilton and Rev. Witherspoon, situated on the eminence in the rear of North avenue and overlooking the entire City of Allegheny. Beautiful for situation, these Lots will commend themselves to all in quest of desirable Lots for building. In the city, they are outside of the of the prevailing high prices of inside lots. Now is certainly the time to exercise forethought in the purchase of Lots in the city. When improvements take place these Lots will unquestionably advance greatly. Great inducements will be offered for the erection of buildings this year. Longer credit will be given to those who build this year. Plans are now ready and can be had, with all other information desired, at the Auctioneer's office, 159 Federal street.

MONDAY, May 13,

Persons unacquainted with the location can meet at the Auction House, 159 Federal street, on day of sale, between one and two o'clock, from whence they will be escorted to the sale.

One visit is sufficient to satisfy anybody of the desirable character of these lots.

Attend the sale anyhow. Very liberal terms will be given.

Remember, this is a positive sale.

THE annual sheepshearing festival takes place to-day at Hill's station, on the Pan Handle road. A large attendance is expected, if the weather should prove fine.

IMMIGRATION to our country daily grows larger. Who knows but in the end we may quarter all Europe? We are getting almost the better portion of its population now.

THE Labor Reformers who met at Williamsport have given us another State ticket. W. P. Schell of Bedford for Governor; Judge Thompson for Justice of Supreme Court; and Billingfelt of Lancaster, for Auditor General. This is certainly the year for conventions and tickets.

THE annual reunion of the members of the Pennsylvania Reserves, will take place on the 16th inst. at Wilkesbarre. We shall be glad to note the movements of the members from this section, if advised in time. We understand a meeting has been called with a view to making necessary preparations.

THE PRESS of the country are still indulging in a "a broad grin" over Greeley's nomination to the Presidency. A Democrat said to us yesterday, "some folks think Grant is stubborn, but if ever Horace becomes President, you will find what a stubborn man is. Nothing will persuade, drive or hold him."

THERE is no change in the matters of difference between our government and England. Earnest efforts are making to arrive at a solution of the grave matter, in order that the arbitration and final decision may not be delayed. There is no doubt that difficulty and danger environs the dispute, but we hope it will be amicably arranged.

ALECK McCLURE has issued his address to his followers in Pennsylvania, as Chairman of the Liberal Republican State Committee. We suppose we shall be informed at the proper time what he and his friends propose to do. In the meantime we shall withhold our praise of the efforts of this "model reformer." It is hinted that Aleck intends to run a State ticket.

THE NAME of Hon. Samuel A. Purviance has been mentioned in connection with the position of delegate to the Constitutional Convention. Mr. P., if we mistake not, was a member of the last convention to revise the State Constitution, and is in every way fitted to discharge creditably the duties of the position. He is a sound lawyer, and his personal character is beyond reproach.

THE REVOLUTION against the Juarez Government in Mexico, appears to be at an end. The insurgents are beaten at almost every point, and are now pouring into the United States as refugees for protection. The defeat of the revolutionists is a defeat of their objects for a year or more to come. Tranquility may be confidently expected to reign for some time in that usually disturbed and unhappy country.

IT is all very well for British political journals to dip their oars in the waters of American politics, and to make predictions to suit themselves. They should know that independent of the Alabama claims or any other question, Grant is strong with the people and will be elected by an overwhelming majority to again preside over the destinies of our nation. Let England attend to her own political business; we are abundantly able to take care of ours.

STRAWS are good things to go by. They generally tell most faithfully how the wind blows. A day or two ago our honesty in political matters and our desire to approach accuracy compelled us to rank the noble State of Indiana among those regarded as uncertain for Grant and Republicanism in the next general national election. Tuesday's election in that State entirely disabuses our mind of any doubt on the subject. The Republican party has gained largely in every district heard from and the whole State is safe for the hero and statesman who now presides over the affairs of the country.

WE SEE it announced that a Republican meeting will be held at New Brighton, Beaver county, in Concert Hall, on Friday evening, (to-morrow), at which the rival candidates for nomination to the State Senate, Colonel John F. Dravo, and Hon. J. S. Rutan are invited, and will address the meeting if present. Mr. Dravo, we are positively informed will be on hand. We have not heard from Mr. Rutan, but suppose he will not refuse to meet his opponent on the stump. This is the fair, manly way to conduct a canvass, and one which meets with the approval of the people. Let there be a large meeting. We shall give a full report of the proceedings.

WE RESPECTFULLY commend the following item from the Times to those friends and admirers of Mr. Greeley, who find fault with the President's friendship for Robert Bonner, his love for horses and good cigars. It may be that they will conclude that much of the fault found with the President's associations is groundless.

"John Morrisey, the gambler and prize-fighter, has come out strongly in favor of Greeley's candidature. Straws show which way the wind is blowing. It will be remembered that during the "Young Democracy" fight in this city, Greeley intrigued with Morrisey for the nomination of Governor. It is sometimes charged that President Grant's friends are not all that could be desired. What would 'President' Greeley's be?

THE World in reply to some castigations for opposing the nomination of Greeley pertinently, says:

"If any proposal ever required full debate in advance of a decision, it is this extraordinary proposal to indorse a Presidential candidate whose nomination the whole Democratic party would, ten days ago, have unanimously declared impossible and ridiculous."

It is plain that a desperate fight will take place in the ranks of the unterrified Democracy over the question of indorsing or repudiating the Liberal ticket. It is a bitter pill to swallow; but should Democracy conclude that the only way to defeat Grant is to adopt the "possum policy" they will take it down nevertheless, but with many a wry face.

IT IS a little too hard on the father of journalists, whose statue in Printing Square, white coat, hat and all, is promised for the future to look down upon Benjamin Franklin, who has secured his bronzed honor already, that only a miserable minority of the newspapers of the country, and most of them of character as fickle as fashion, have hurled their caps in enthusiasm for him. Can he possibly shut his eyes and refuse to see the picture in a correct light. We will venture our usual wager of a big apple that before the roses of June are in full bloom that the Tribune philosopher will lay down the Cincinnati shovel and the hoe, hang up the fiddle and the bow, for their will be no more hard work for poor uncle Horace after the people have dismissed him from their good graces.

IT IS TO BE HOPED that the Methodist Episcopal General Conference will settle at once and fairly, the Book Concern muddle. To an outsider this seems to be one of the most important items of business it can consider, to inspire future faith in the management of the church's affairs. A fair and full investigation can do no harm; for if Dr. Lanahan's charges are not sustained, the innocent can be relieved of all suspicion; if they are supported, however, then the church authorities by the exposition of the guilty, absolve themselves from all seeming connivance in the fraud. As the matter now stands, the two reports and the fresh charges jumble up matters worse than before, and the dilly-dallying of the Conference does seem as though there was a disposition to "smooth over." The membership of the church all over the country have been looking to the Conference for a clear and impartial disposition of this case, and it is to be hoped they are not to be disappointed. Neither of the reports, gives any satisfaction and nothing but a thorough showing will do.

FRANCE, while yet bleeding at every pore, in consequence of the inexcusable war brought upon her by her late ambitions and perfidious Emperor, is bent upon executing some of her brave and skilful Generals to propitiate the people for the losses and burdens imposed upon them. Even the daring Uhlrich, whose defense of Strasburg was the admiration of all men, is to be court-marshaled for capitulating that stronghold midst fire and famine. As well might the United States have tried the brave and patriotic Anderson for surrendering Sumpter, after its terrific bombardment, or Mulligan for evacuating Lexington, after his heroic struggle. France, has much better work on hand, we think, and should cover her Generals with wreaths of laurel, and hail their loyal conduct, instead of giving them a mockery of a trial for failing to accomplish that which fate had decreed impossible. If the German conquerors could give testimony at these trials, France might learn how much she owed to the skill and bravery of her armies and their leaders.

THE minority report of the French Arms Investigation Committee completely exonerates the government and all its employees of all charges of culpability or negligence in the matter of the sales of arms. The report states "there is no evidence that any person, except one, received any pay or commission from the sale, and he was not connected with any department of the Government." In other words, the French Government employed an agent, secretly, to purchase arms and ammunition of this country, and that agent was the only person who charged a commission for the work done for his employers. There is also no evidence that our Government officers had any connection directly or indirectly, within their knowledge, with any of the French agents, and the whole charge thus contemptibly falls to the ground. Mr. Carl Schurz will have to trump up some new charge against the administration, as all his past efforts have proved futile. Mr. Horace Greeley, who lent prompt aid to the tricksters, who inaugurated the series of base calumnies against the President, has at last secured his reward. It will prove a vain and empty victory.

HORSE CAR RAILWAYS have become fixed institutions in most of our cities and large towns. Experience suggests the necessity of a law regulating the use of the cars, already the right of the track is secured to them, other vehicles must get out of their way, and are not permitted to stop or detain them. The public demands a law to prevent the crowding of the platform and especially to make it severely penal for any passenger to stand or loiter on the step designed for the entry to or egress from the car, as well when in motion as when standing. The practice of standing on the step of the car has in many instances caused passengers entering or leaving it, while in motion to fall, and may be expected to result in broken limbs or loss of life. The proprietors and conductors of cars should second the popular wish in this respect, and procure the necessary legislation to enforce the circumspection so manifestly proper in this particular. These remarks are suggested at this time by an incident in point which occurred last evening. A woman attempted to enter one of the Pleasant Valley single horse cars, a gentleman (?) engrossed the entire step, which is very small, and failed to yield any of his possession, the woman caught the handle at the door, but failed to get a foothold and fell to the ground, receiving, happily but slight bruises, but damaging her dress rather seriously. The gentleman (?) we suppose enjoyed his monopoly of the only ingress to the car, while the lady was left prone upon the street to scrape the mud from her garments and wait for the next car.

THE TRANSPORTATION OF CATTLE.

That the transportion of cattle from one point to another, over long stretches of territory, by water and rail, has been marked by great cruelty) nearly every person knows. A reform in this direction has been frequently agitated, but the same abuse of dumb animals still universally continues despite the efforts of humane people to have it discontinued. Massachusetts has a law on her statute books limiting the number of hours during which cattle may be confined in cars, and requiring that they be furnished rest, food and water at certain regular intervals. A similar bill has just been adopted by the House of Representatives in Congress, which, if it becomes a law, will probably bring about the necessary reform.

On this subject we have received a well written essay from the pen of Mr. George T. Angell, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The essay is full of well authenticated facts of public importance, some of which we give in condensed form. Cattle carried from Texas to New Orleans on steamers, are from three to six days crowded under decks, without food or water, and with poor ventilation. Out of a hundred and fifty shipped on one steamer, about forty died on the passage.

From New Orleans or Red River, up the Mississippi, they are carried with like cruelty. It is common to throw overboard the dead cattle each morning. Transportation by way of Kansas to Chicago is little, if any, better. At Chicago they are rested a few hours, then forced, by the use of goads, into cars in which they have less than two feet space to the animal, and sometimes smaller animals are forced under them. A hundred calves are usually crowded into a single car, and two hundred sheep or swine is about the average. In this way they are brought to eastern cities, enduring such suffering from want of food, water and rest that many die, and others are taken out almost dead, having, in the words of Massachusetts Railroad Commissioners, "suffered all that animals can suffer and live." The results are a shrinkage of weight on animals that come through alive varying from one hundred to two hundred pounds per animal, a damage to hides amounting, in the case of two firms mentioned, to over $40,000 per annum, and a great depreciation in the value of the meat. It is estimated that the loss in 1869, by shrinkage alone, on cattle alone, shipped east from Chicago, amounted to at least 29,471,700 pounds of beef.

Mr. Angell cites a long list of sanitary and medical authorities, to show that the meats of animals so transported endanger the public health, producing diseases in many well-authenticated cases.

It appears also from various reliable authorities quoted, including Dr. Derby of the Massachusetts State Board of Health, that it is almost impossible to detect in the markets the meats of diseased animals, and the only safety consists in their inspection, as in European cities, before they are killed, and the inspection of their internal organs immediately after being killed.

After describing the various forms of stock cars, with their advantages and objections, Mr. Angell proceeds to discuss the remedy, which consists, first, in the enactment and enforcement of certain laws specified, which shall lead railroad corporations to adopt some one of the forms of improved stock cars, and the use of which he shows will be alike profitable to the corporations, the cattle dealers, and consumers.

In conclusion, Mr. Angell insists upon the importance here, as in continental European cities, of protection against diseased meats by a careful inspection of all animals slaughtered in the neighborhood of our great cities.

MATTERS OF MOMENT.

LAKE ERIE.—"Is Lake Erie drying up?" anxiously inquires the Boston Globe correspondent. No, but that man ought to, who occupies half a column with the inquiry.

TWEED.—They say Tweed's family are preparing for a grand European tour. The "Boss" will not go with them, owing to a general desire that he should make a tour to Sing Sing.

TOLERATION.—Christians are hereafter to be tolerated in Japan, says a correspondent. If they are to be tolerated in the way that some of our people have been recently by the barbarians, it is possible few Christians will be anxious to take advantage of the Imperial degree—not while life is valuable.

A NEW DODGE.—The Ohio liquor dealers have reduced their opposition to the new liquor law to a fine point; they propose to contest its legality because the words "General Assembly" were omitted from the enacting clause, and the temperance men are at their wits end as to how they should confront the enemy in this new movement.

MISS GRANT.—That dispatch stating that Miss Nellie Grant had visited the gardens at Versailles with Madame Thiers and seen the fountains play, is made clear when the reader remembers that the beautiful spectacle "Grand Eaux," as the French call it, is never witnessed until midsummer, except upon stated occasions or for the pleasure of distinguished visitors.

GOV. REED.—Gov. Reed of Florida is no longer as a reed shaken by the wind but has been firmly rooted in the Gubernatorial office, by the action of his accusers who first charged him with the gravest corruption, and then when the trial came on, failed in any way to make good their assertions. It's one thing to make a charge, but another thing to prove it.

CAPT. HALL'S EXPEDITION.—Just as we were about to comfort ourselves with the assurance that American enterprise had achieved another great triumph, and that the Northwest passage had been discovered, our enthusiasm is chilled, by the announcement that, in official circles at our Naval headquarters the recent reports purporting to come from Captain Hall, are discredited. Let us haul in our banners for a few days.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.—The friends of woman suffrage, with the return of spring, seem to have renewed their efforts in Pennsylvania. They propose a more thorough investigation, and a wider dissemination of the truth, for which purpose all who are friendly are invited to forward their address to the office of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, 700 Arch street Philadelphia, for documents and specimen copies of the Woman's Journal.

MINING DEVELOPMENT.—If the reports received from all quarters are reliable, the present year will witness extraordinary activity in mining development in our country. The recent rise in iron and other metals has, in a measure, caused this excitement, but the most careful observers are of the opinion that a steady and increasing demand for all the products of the metals, has been the primary cause of this advance, and that it will encourage the development of new fields. A notable instance of this activity is the fact that a company is now being formed composed of some of our leading copper dealers, to develop the region of the "Staked plains," Texas, where copper ore, which is said to assay 55 per cent. of pure metal, has been discovered; and again, the iron regions of south-eastern Missouri are attracting the attention of British capitalists, and the erection of two mammoth blast furnaces and rolling mills at Cape, Girardeau, has been decided upon. Similar reports come from the Lake regions and the far west, and everything points to rapid development of our mineral resources during this year.

Why Mr. Greeley Should Not be Supported for the Presidency.

What was at one time regarded as a good joke, the nomination of Horace Greeley for the post of President of the United States, has by the recent act of the Cincinnati Convention become sober earnest. It gives a certain air of low comedy to the election in which the country is about to engage, but, in spite of that, the subject is of such a nature, and the public interest is so deeply concerned in it, that we are forced to treat it seriously. We shall, therefore, put together a few reasons that occur to us why the nomination of Mr. Greeley is unworthy of support.

He lacks the courage, the firmness and the consistency which are required in a Chief Magistrate of the nation. He showed this in a remarkable manner when, at the outbreak of the civil war he desired to let the South have its way and dissolve the Union of the States. He was frightened, and feared to face the consequences of rejecting the demands of the Southern politicians. The war, however, went on, and soon, though claiming to be a Unionist, he became frightened again. He wanted to make terms with the rebel Government at Richmond; he wanted to negotiate with George Saunders and other agents of the rebel Government who had sought refuge in Canada. He was for stopping the war and letting the South depart with the chance of preserving slavery. His whole career during the war was irresolute and cowardly, and his counsels impolitic and unwise to the last degree.

Mr. Greeley's political associations and intimacies are so bad that we can expect nothing from him, in case, to his own misfortune and ours, he should be elected, but a corrupt administration of affairs. Everybody is aware of his close intimacy with Mr. Fenton of the Senate. If there is a corrupt and dishonest politician in the land, there is no man who has a better claim to be so considered than Reuben E. Fenton. His character is well known to Mr. Greeley; yet is he Mr. Greeley's bosom friend and counsellor in politics. Without a single idea of what public virtue or principle means, he is a most shrewd and skillful political manager. It was probably through his intrigues more than through any other influence that Mr. Greeley succeeded in obtaining his nomination. The same facility for entering into close association with dishonest men has marked the whole of Mr. Greeley's career. He began his political life as a disciple of Thurlow Weed, and only rebelled against his master when he found that he was not to have any of the offices for which political parties were quarreling. In a letter which found its way into print, he expressly declined to hunt any longer in company with that virtuous individual, Weed, because there was no proper division of the game. He now hunts in company with Fenton who is more generous. If he should be elected, it is very likely that Fenton would be the principle member of his cabinet, and that the other heads of departments would be little better. As for the subordinate offices, they would probably be filled by the men whom he makes his companions, such as John V. Gridley, Waldo Hutchins, Benjamin Wood, John Morrissey and Hank Smith, the lesser lights of Mr. Greeley's social firmament.

Mr. Greeley has no settled political principles, with one exception. It is a serious objection to any candidate for an office of high political trust that he has no well-defined standard of right in his own mind by which to try any measure or any course of proceeding that may be proposed. This is one of Mr. Greeley's great deficiencies. Any aspect of a public measure which looks plausible satisfies him, and he drifts backward and forward upon the shifting currents of expediency. It has been said of him as a politician, and we believe with some truth, that he has been on every side of every public question that has come up.

The last objection to Mr. Greeley which we shall here mention is the grossness of his manners. General Grant is sometimes complained of as not filling the Executive Chair with the decorum and dignity which properly belong to the place; but his deficiency in this respect is the deficiency of one not accustomed to polished society, giving little heed to certain conventionalities which really become the high sphere he moves in, and he is never bearish or brutal, as Mr. Greeley so often is.

These are some of the objections which will occur to thoughtful men when they hear of Mr. Greeley's nomination; and allowing these the weight which they fully deserve, we must advise our readers to refuse the nomination their support. With such a head as is on his shoulders the affairs of the nation could not, under his direction, be wisely administered; with such manners as his, they could not be administered with common decorum; with such associates as he has taken to his bosom, they could not be administered with common integrity.—N. Y. Post.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

Love and Business—How a Butcher Boy Fell a Victim to Hymen—Not a Bit Like the Novels.

Once upon a time there was a fair young maiden, whose name was Mary, although they called her Moll, for short. She wasn't a tall dark-eyed maiden, with clear, transparent skin, and lips like cherries, and cheeks suffused with blushes. She didn't have glossy black hair, sweeping back in wavy tresses from her queenly brow, and her form wasn't a bit like Hebe's. No, there were none of those things—on the contrary, she was short and thin, and had red hair and freckles, and she also sported snaggle teeth and wore pads, but still she was a right nice girl, and there was a young man who fell in love with her, and his name was Bill, although his friends called him William when they wanted to hurt his feelings, for he didn't like it much. He wasn't fine looking, and had neither curly brown hair nor a moustache. Not much. Bill laid himself out on soap-locks, and wore a goatee that he had dyed twice a week.

Now this Bill was in love with Mary, but did he go and make a deliberate ass of himself? Did he, I say, go into a grove with her, and in the soft moonlight, by the streamlet that murmured sweetly by, and with the tender zephyrs sighing through the foliage, fall down on his knees, seize her jeweled hand, and breathe his deep affection in the tender accents of fond attachment and swear "by you bright orb above us, always to be thine?" Did he, I say? You can just bet he didn't. You can lay out your whole revenue safely on that. William knew too much about the price of pants to go flopping around on the wet grass with his good clothes on; besides he never cared anything about streamlets or any kind of cold water, except to mix with his gin. No, sir, It was exceedingly strange, but this infatuated William met her at the alley gate, and he stood, right up on his old legs and says: "Say, Moll, old gal, s'posen we get hitched."

But how did Mary behave? Did she go dropping to sleep over the bricks in a dead faint, or did she hide her gentle head on his shirt bosom to conceal her blushes? No, she didn't, and she didn't say, "I'm ever thine, my own love, dear William!" Oh, my, no. She looked right in his yellow eyes and says: "I'm in, Billy; I'm the gal for these sort of things, Go in!" And instead of referring him to her father, she only said: "Won't the old man bust right out when you tell him? Ha! ha!" and she laughed. But she didn't ask William to mollify her fond father. No, no. She very wickedly advised him to "poke the old man in the nose if he gave him any of his lip." She was a funny girl.

Now, the old man wasn't wealthy, for he sold soap-fat for a living, and so he didn't think Bill was nosing around after his stamps; so when Bill asked him, he neither ordered him fiercely away, nor did the dewy moisture gather in his eagle eye as he passed his hemstitched up there and said: "Bless you, my children, bless you!" Oh, no, nothing of the sort. He just blew his old red nose in his bandanna and told Bill to take her along, for he was glad to get rid of her, he was, and William would be the same way mighty soon, for she was awful rough on victuals, and always broke plates when she got mad.

So, you see, there really was no necessity for William to come at midnight's solemn hour, in a cab, and throw a rope ladder up to her window, and whistle three times on his fingers, and then go up, hand over hand, and bring her down in one hand and her trunk in the other, and a band-box and an umbrella under each arm, and a whole lot of bundles, and then get in a cab and fly to some distant shore. That's the way it would have been in a novel; but Bill said he wasn't on that lay, and so he just went out in the yard, and out of pure joy, he skinned the cat three or four times on the grape-vine arbor, and then went and got in his butcher cart, and drove Mary right down to the magistrate, to get the job done for a quarter—for he said he was some on low prices, he was.

But the very queerest thing of all was, that Bill had no tall, dark, ruffianly rival, with a scowling visage and black whiskers, who flew at him with a drawn dagger and a horse-pistol in each hand, and a muttered curse on his lips, cried loudly for "revenge." Ha! ha! and said: "Death!" and "Villain, thou diest!" Not any. There was another fellow in love with Mollie, to be sure, but he was a weak-eyed young man, who had sandy hair and wore spectacles and a choker collar, and always looked scared when you hollared at him. So, when he saw that Bill had the best of the girl's affections, he looked all serene and said: "Go in, Billy, if you hanker for her;" and as Bill was a little trifle on the hanker, he sailed right in.

So William, you see, had no trouble at all—and you couldn't get up an agonizing novel about him if you tried. He didn't have any urgent business that called him to a foreign land, and so he had to bid her a fond good-by, and swear always to be true, and then go away and forget her, and fall in love with a dark-eyed Italian girl, picking crapes in a vineyard, with a square towel folded on her head, while his forgotten and forsaken Mary gradually faded and pined away, and baffled the physician's skull, and grew paler, and at last, when the June roses were in bloom, lying gently down to die, while through the open window floated in the balmy odor of jessamine and honeysuckle. And William didn't come home at last, and filled with deathless remorse, go daily to the sweet cemetery and strew flowers on her grave, and teach his children to lisp her name. Not at all. That is the way Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth would have done it, but she wasn't round. Billy was a butcher who wore a white shirt and a shiny hat, and he stayed at home and killed beef and sold it at a big price, and stuck to Mary, and she kept healthy and wasn't much on the pine, or the fade, while if any fellows got to lurking around, William went right out and batted them in the eye, he did.

And then, at last, when all was over, Mary didn't sit in the room while they dressed her in white, and mixed orange blossoms in her waterfall, and then go gently down stairs with six bridesmaids at her heels, and stand up with her William, and weep gently while she was being married by the minister, and then get lots of presents, and then go to her new house, and live through all the happy years with Billy, and never know sorrow or trouble any more. Why, of course, she didn't, for it wasn't her style, you see.

She just rushed up stairs and put on her pink muslin and her old sun bonnet, and had nary bridesmaid, and went to the magistrate's and never wept a particle, and got no presents but fifteen cents from the old man to pay her car fare home, and when she got to the magistrate's she just rose off the bench and told Bill she didn't see much use in splicing, and that she didn't like him anyhow; and so she went home, and Bill he went with her, and told her he wasn't sorry, as he didn't want her, and he guessed she was hard on her clothes, anyhow, and so they never got married, and the whole thing turned out wrong; but I couldn't help it; for I ain't goin' to put facts on record that ain't so. But it ain't a bit like any novel that I ever read, so there must have been something strange about this fellow and Mollie that I never could find out, so I'll have to let it slide as it is.

A SHEET-IRON church, for 200 people, is in successful operation in London.

THE tobacco plants in Virginia are later and fewer this year than ever known before.

A YOUNG boy in Lafayette, Ala., shot his mother dead the other day, on her refusal to allow him to go out a hunting.

A PARTY of Englishmen are prospecting in Augusta county, Va., for farms upon which to settle. They are young and seem energetic.

A PARTY of Californians have received concessions for a railroad from Guyamas, Sonora, to Tucson, Arizona, to intersect the Pacific road.

BOSTON requires one million of tons of coal per annum, or four thousand cargoes, an average of twenty cargoes per day, from April to October.

TEN cents a bushel is thought to be a high market price for lemons and oranges in Brazil. Native fruits are a drug. Vegetation and pestilence thrive.

COLORADO contains 66,880,000 acres, or 105,000 square miles, an area larger than thirteen States the size of Massachusetts. One county, Summit, contains 14,000,000 acres, an area nearly three times as large as that of our State. Four-fifths of this vast territory is already susceptible of settlement. Its mining territory is greater than that of any other State or Territory, and its grazing capacity is surpassed only by Texas.

THE London Court Journal says: "Cousin Jonathan has begun to annex us. At least he has begun to occupy London in force, which is the first step toward annexation. One of the great New York journals has located itself on Fleet street, or at least has opened a branch office there, for the receipt of advertisements, and in advertising itself. No doubt others will speedily follow suit. These American papers will be welcome in a land where no one is afraid of competition, and the best wins. American journalism is energetic and smart, and can teach old John something."

IN Boerne county, Texas, lately, a suit was brought to recover $500, the purchase money of a jackass sold by the defendant. The ass was sold on credit, and defendant had failed to come to time. On the cause being called on, defendant walked into the court room leading the jack, and "made a tender of him in open court." Everybody was convulsed with laughter, even the judge. The animal's head was decked with a stove-pipe hat, a pair of linen pants covered his fore-legs, a large pair of spectacles crossed his eyes, and a placard hung on a conspicuous part of the animal: "$500—cheap for cash."

"Can You Keep a Wife?"

Mr. Dudley Warner, in his new and delightful book of travel, "Saunterings" in an account of certain changes in Bavaria, gives this pretty hymeneal picture:

"But the social change is still more important. The restrictions upon marriage were a serious injury to the state. If Hans wished to marry, and felt himself adequate to the burdens and responsibilities of the double state, and the honest fraulein was quite willing to undertake its trials and risks with him, it was not at all enough that in the moon-lighted beer-garden, while the band played, and they peeled the stinging radish, and ate the Switzer cheese, and drank from one mug, she allowed his arm to steal around her stout waist. All this love and fitness went for nothing in the eyes of the magistrate, who referred the application for permission to marry to his associate advisers, and they inquired into the applicant's circumstances; and if, in their opinion, he was not worth enough money to support a wife properly, permission was refused for him to try. The consequence was late marriages, and fewer than there ought to be, and other ill results. Now the matrimonial gates are lifted high, and the young man has not to ask permission of any snuffy old magistrate to marry. I do not that the consent of the maidens is more difficult to obtain than formerly.

LUNG DISEASE.

People who suffer from Lung Disease of whatever kind, especially those which have become chronic, need to know one important truth, and that is: that medicine should be taken long enough to renovate the whole system, that is, to renew the tissues and restore the functions to harmonious action. Thousands of sufferers from chronic ailments of various kinds, who feel a languid, lingering sickness nearly all the days of their existence, could be restored to pristine health by the use of a dozen bottles or so of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure at a trifling cost, not to be compared with the benefit derived from it.

Vigorous and robust health are surely of sufficient importance to make those in want of it investigate seriously what we say about Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. A gentleman of great ability and known integrity in writing about this medicine says:

"I am happy to say that my wife has experienced great benefit from this medicine, Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, being nearly restored to perfect soundness in her chest."

This is but a sample of the cures we hear of every day by Dr. Keyser and his Lung Cure.

FALSE THEORIES OVERTHROWN.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has worked a complete revolution in the treatment of disease. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

ST. LOUIS MAGNETIC SPRING WATER.

50 cases just received at
JAS. E. BURNS & CO.'S DRUG STORE,
Corner Penn and Sixth (old St. Clair) streets.

St. Louis Magnetic Spring, discovered 1869, St. Louis, Gratiot county, Michigan.

This most wonderful spring is attracting, from its novelty and peculiarities, the attention of the world. During the summer of 1869, while the Company were boring for salt, a vein of water was struck, flowing with such force as to throw the stream several feet above the surface. It was found to carry a powerful current of Electricity or Magnetism, which marks it as one of the most wonderful of nature's curiosities. The water has been proved to possess most remarkable curative properties, being particularly effective in cases of rheumatism, paralysis, gravel, kidney complaints, dyspepsia and nervous diseases.

DAILY GAZETTE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, May 8, 1872.

The local money market of to-day showed but little variation from that of yesterday. Some of our banks were anxious for applications for loans, whilst others were kept busy in making suitable provision for their customers. The money market, however, is sufficiently easy to prevent any considerable pressure to realize, and hence, values, for the most part, are quite uniformly maintained, with a tendency to higher prices. The gradual appreciation in gold, also, causes holders to be very careless about making any engagements for the future; this is particularly the case with our pork, oil, beef and tallow operators, who prefer waiting future developements, prior to clearing out what stocks they have on hand.

Prices of all the leading articles of consumption, as the principal kinds of groceries, except tea and coffee, textile goods, and other leading manufactures, it is expected, will go up considerably higher than they now are. The general disposition evinced by the people, against war, is bearing fruit, and gives evidence that Americans are not fond of strife, where it is possible to avoid it. The position taken by the Secretary of the Treasury, that it is the duty of the Government, as well as individuals to pay off its obligations as fast as it can legitimately do so, is helping private as well as public credit, and is doing very much in the way of adding tone, credit and reputation to our people. Although many of our best men have differed with Secretary Boutwell's policy, yet so far it has brought forth only good fruits, and in a good administration he has kept his department up to the van.

The imports at New York for the week show an increase both of dry goods and general merchandise; the total being above ten million dollars in foreign gold value, against a little over nine and a half millions last week. The average, for seven weeks, is over ten millions per week. Since the 13th of April, the figures are a little irregular, viz:

Week ending	Dry Goods.	General Merchandise.	Total
May 4	$2,966,339	$7,224,536	$10,190,875
April 27	2,433,735	7,140,221	9,572,956
April 20	3,063,711	10,040,399	13,104,110
April 13	2,667,892	7,902,758	10,670,650

The Chicago Tribune in referring to the recent sharp advance in flour and wheat, remarks: The great speculative feature in the local markets is the rise in wheat, which has now been 25 cents per bushel since April 1. In view of the enormous crop which will be harvested in Californi by the last of May or the first of June, (or nearly two months earlier than in the Atlantic States,) and the fair prospect for good crops in the United States generally, it seems probable this advance will only be sustained a few weeks. California will have ten million bushels of surplus wheat for exportation this year, or at least four times as much as she had last year, and the increase of the exportable surplus in that State alone will add 25 per cent. to the usual annual exports from the whole United States.

NEW YORK, May 8, 1872.

Gold active and higher, advancing from 113⅝ to 114⅛, and closing at 114@114⅛. Loans were at 4, 6 and 2 per cent. for carrying. Clearings $60,000,000. Governments strong and higher. Stocks opened strong at an advance from last night's prices, but the Bears soon jumped on the market, and, assisted by rumors that the treaty had been publicly pronounced a failure by the banks, that the Bank of England would probably raise the rate of discount to-morrow, and unfavorable legislation at Albany in regard to the Pacific Mail, succeeded in selling the market down from 1 to 3 per cent. Most prominent on the decline were Pacific Mail, C. C. & I. C., Northwestern, Rock Island, Ohios and Lake Shore. At the close there was a general rally, and the market was firm at the improved prices. Money easy at 6 per cent. Southern securities steady.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, May 8, 1872.

The market continues weak, and prices, as compared with yesterday, have still further declined; crude sold to-day at $3,85, against $3,92 yesterday, and the tendency is still downward. Refined, also, is lower: sales on Spot at 22⅞; and last half of June 23. There has been a marked change within the past forty-eight hours; on Monday it was strong and somewhat excited, while to-day it was flat and drooping. The probability, however, is that it will soon take another turn upward again.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The market was generally inactive, although trade was somewhat improved under the influence of the warm weather; prices are steady for the most part, but there appears to be a turning point in the price of fancy prints, notwithstanding the high prices on gray cloths. RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with scant five feet in the channel. Weather yesterday was clear and oppressively hot in the sun.

The Bellevernon from St. Louis, and the Argosy from Cincinnati, constitute the arrivals. The Lucy Bertram is over due.

The Carrie Brooks was the only departure, excepting the slackwater packets.

Pilot Henry Haney has quit the Brooks, and will engage in towboat piloting hereafter. Mr. Haney has stood some very long watches on the Brooks, and he hopes to have an easier berth, and more money in the future. He is a good pilot, and withal a very clever gentleman.

Capt. John M'Millan has instituted proceedings in the United States District Court, against the steamers Ajax, Collier, and Messenger, for refusing to take out license for the use of the capstan, of which he is the owner. Capt. McMillan intends to proceed at once against all infringers who refuse to settle.

The West Virginia, Capt. Patterson, will depart for Brownesville to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock and on Saturday, at 3 P. M., for Geneva.

The Bellevernon is announced for St. Louis forthwith. Capt. Darragh expects to get away by Saturday.

The Brill is due from Nashville, and as will be seen by card, she is announced for a return trip forthwith. Capt. M. A. Cox is in command.

The Sam Roberts is reported as having grounded a part of her tow at or near Industry, and that after having got it off she laid up at that place and will wait for more water. The other boats that left here about the same time will probably get through.

Business continues rather slow at the landing, and there is but little prospect of an early improvement.

—Evansville papers complain bitterly of the way in which steamers are persecuted on the lower Ohio. The Lee and Shannon were victimized, and here is what the Journal says of the latest: "The Susie Silver, upon her arrival here on Thursday, was attached at the suit of a nameless unlocated individual, for the modest sum of $4,500, claimed as damages and expenses incurred. The libellant claims that he had shipped as a roustabout on the Susie Silver for the round trip to New Orleans and return. That at Brandenburg he had been injured by a bale of hay, and had been put ashore at Rome without pay, without money and without an hospital ticket. The libellant claims wages for fifty-six days at $2 per day, $50 or $60 for nursing, and $4,000 for damages. Every officer on the boat is ready to swear that no such man was ever employed, and that no such incident ever occurred on the boat. Captain Tom W. Shields, who is an eminent lawyer, promptly gave bond in $8,000 or over, and proposes to make the case interesting for his persecutors. He proposes to conduct his own case, and will make it highly important in the history of marine jurisprudence. If we are not mistaken, this will close out the ring that has been preying on steamboats.

—We clip the following from the St. Louis Democrat: Capt. Ike Whitaker leaves by rail to-day for Pittsburgh, after the Fearless departs from Carondelet this morning for Pittsburgh with the largest cargo of iron ore ever taken up that river by one steamer or in one tow. The Fearless has 5 barges loaded with, in the aggregase, 2810 tons of Iron Mountain ore, and between fifty thousand and one hundred thousand tons of the same remain in the pile from which she gathered her crop. J. V. & M. McDonald, coal merchants of Pittsburgh, are the consignees of the cargo, it being purchased for them.

—At New Orleans, in the suit of J. B. Cooper and others against the steamer Ida, the proceeds of sale were distributed as follows: Wages, Jno. B. Cooper, first engineer, $59 86; second engineer, $48 33; fireman, $32; deck hands, $20 each; steward, G. F. Willoughby, $716 83; Peter Aubry, cook, $436 33; John H. Willoughby, pilot, $1,220; B. F. Hargess, clerk, $835 33; carpenter, $66; mate, $120; deck sweeper, $16. Supplies paid private. The whole amount amounted to $5,150 80.

—The compressing of cotton at Shreveport has proved an entire success. The one now in use has been kept running up to its fullest capacity since the day it started. The material for another is on the ground, and will be ready for business by the time the new crop comes in. It will find plenty to do.

—The Postmaster-General has ordered the mail service of G. L. Koons, between New Orleans and Vicksburg, reduced to twice a week, and ordered a contract to be made with Captain T. T. Leathers, of the steamer Natchez, for the Saturday mail, until the 30th day of June, 1875, at $10,000 per year.

—The towboat Mary Ann arrived at Vicksburgh the other day, with eleven boats of coal for Mattingly & Flowerree. The Times says: She landed above De Soto, in order to keep from paying wharfage here. She bought $200 worth of stores in our city, which was taken to her by a tug.

—James Carroll and Joseph Rutledge, pilots of the Henry Probasco, have been cited to appear before the U. S. Local Inspector, at Louisville, to answer for running Wabash Island chute down stream after night.

—The Louisville Courier, of Wednesday, says: The Joseph H Bigley made a run from this port to New Orleans in eight days and three and a half hours, with eighteen coal boats containing over 300,000 bushels of coal.

—The first bridge over the Arkansas river will be at Little Rock, and at the "Point of Rocks," near the foot of Rock street. Roces will be used in its construction. It will be a railroad bridge.

—Elisha Evans, pilot of the John Howard, is reported to be seriously ill at Little Rock.

—The Fleetwing has laid up at Ironton, during the low water in Big Sandy.

STEAM CAPSTAN PATENT.—PARTIES who have used or are now using STEAM POWER CAPSTANS, in infringement of the M'MILLIN PATENT, are hereby notified to take out license, or they will be proceeded against by suit in the United States Circuit Court. The validity of the patent and the right of the owners of the patent to an injunction, having been fully affirmed and established, parties will save themselves expense and trouble by settling promptly. The undersigned may be found at his office with England Bindley, 263 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. Licenses will be granted on reasonable terms.

An Oil Train Burned.

About two o'clock yesterday morning a train of eleven oil cars was entirely destroyed by fire on the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The train was near Verona Borough, about twelve miles from the city, when the oil caught fire from the sparks of a passing locomotive. We were unable to learn the owner's name, or the probable amount of loss.

Hon. Andrew W. Loomis.

This veteran statesman counsellor and advocate, has been staying for some months at the Monongahela house in this city. We regret to say in impaired health, but is now recuperating under the care of his old and tried friend, Dr. George McCook, who has been his family physician for about fifty years, and to whom he is much attached. We trust and hope this "old man eloquent" may be spared to his family and friends for many years to come. In forensic eloquence in the councils of the nation he has been the peer of eminent statesmen, at a later period at our own bar with Forward, Wilkins, Shaler and Stanton as his compeers, he was the acknowledged head of his profession.

New Organization.

The County Agricultural Society met yesterday, but having received their new charter, shortly adjourned to meet at Judge Parker's office, No. 10 Sixth street, under the new charter. Capt. John Young, Jr., was elected President, Mr. Wm. Anderson, Secretary and W. W. Patrick, Treasurer. The charter provides that permanent officers cannot be elected until five thousand shares of capital stock has been subscribed, and ten per cent paid in. The subscription books were open yesterday and considerable stock has already been subscribed. When the required amount of stock has been subscribed and paid the Society will meet for the election of permanent officers.

The Good Templars.

The next quarterly convention of the Monongahela Valley District Convention of Good Templars will meet in Monongahela City, on the 21st and 22nd of May inst. This will be the largest body ever held in the State outside of the Grand Lodge, and in view of many important matters to be brought before it, should call forth a full delegation from every lodge. The templars of Monongahela are making every preparation to give the delegates a cordial reception, and have arranged for a steamboat excursion, a sociable banquet and public meetings. The steamers will issue excursions tickets, and everything promises to be "pleasant and profitable" for those who attend. Delegates when elected are requested to notify Wm. H. Arison, Monongahela City, at once.

Did it Pay?

"The way of the transgressor is hard." The verity of this truism is being demonstrated daily in Mayor Blackmore's administration of the criminal affairs of the city. Last evening a colored man named Joseph Reed was brought before His Honor on a charge of disorderly conduct. The Mayor concluded that a due consideration of all the circumstances of the case would justify him in imposing a fine of $25 and costs, or, in default thereof, thirty days to the Work House would be the alternative. The prisoner at Justice's bar undertook to instruct the Judge with reference to his duties, and in the course of his remarks, used some very violent and improper language, whereat the sentence of the court was doubled. The lesson which this little coup de main was intended to teach was suffered to go unheeded, and the offender became more violent than ever. The result of it all was that the prisoner was remanded to the tombs, in default of seventy-five dollars and costs; and the "Black Maria" not being in readiness, Joseph will take a ride on the West Pennsylvania Railroad, this morning, the alternative of his not paying the fine imposed being "ninety days."

Sunday at Point Breeze.

As the heated term approaches not a few of the denizens of the densely populated portions of the city hie them away on Sunday to parts where the free, pure and unadulterated air of heaven may be had for the breathing. Where this is the only or main object, there are those among us willing to concede that Sunday recreation of this kind is not the greatest sin for which poor, weak humanity will have to answer. But, unfortunately for the residents of the rural districts most frequented by the city folk, many of these Sunday recreation and pleasure seekers are not entitled to be classed among the most orderly and law abiding members of our community. Last Sunday a party of young men visited Point Breeze, and, according to an information made before the Mayor yesterday afternoon, by Wm. Clinton, instead of seeking rest and solace from the burdensome toil of the week in some of the quiet haunts of nature to be found in the vicinity, they amused themselves by throwing stones at his house and breaking a number of his windows. As a result of the complaint, last evening Detectives Cupples and Scott arrested Andrew Bushy, Alphonse Rahe, W. Beecher, and a young man named Woolslayer, and they are now in the tombs, held to answer charges of malicious mischief.

Agricultural Exhibition.

The Fayette Township Farmers Club will hold an exhibition of stock, farm implements and machinery, at Oakdale, Allegheny county, on Thursday the 16th inst. The officers of the club are, Wm. C. Herron, Chairman, J. W. Nesbit, Secretary. And the Committee of arrangements consists of Messrs. John Mathews, John Turner, and Levi Gregg. Communications addressed to any of the above names will be replied to promptly. Articles sent by manufacturers or dealers to Oakdale, will be taken charge of by the Club, and will be taken from and returned to the station without charge. Ladies are included in the general invitation to be present. Stock for exhibition must be entered on the books of the Club five days before the exhibition, and must be on the ground with the name of owner, breed and age of animal at 10 A. M., and remain until 3 P. M. Machinery and farm implements may be entered at any time before 10 o'clock of the day of the exhibition.

The management of this exhibition is in good hands, and everything possible will be done to make it worthy of the Club and of the rich agricultural district of which Oakdale is the center, a half hour's ride on the Panhandle Road will take passengers from the city. We expect large numbers will avail themselves of the occasion to spend a day agreeably and profitably, in the country where in addition to the attractions of the exhibition they will see the orchards in exuberant bloom, and hear a concert of avarian vocalists.

DEAD BODY FOUND.

Coroner's Inquest—Verdict, "Premature Birth."

Yesterday afternoon a number of boys, while making excavations in a sand bank between Reed and Clark streets, in the Eleventh ward, exhumed a cigar box, on opening which they found the body of a male child. They carried the box with its contents to the Eleventh ward Station House, and notification of the dicovery was sent to the Coroner. In the evening that official empanneled a jury and held an inquest. Dr. Thorn made a post mortem examination, and, at the Coroner's investigation, testified that the case was one of premature birth. The verdict rendered by the jury was in accordance with the testimony of the medical gentleman. No clue as to the ancestry of the child, or as to who was the undertaker, was developed.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Meeting of the Fire Commissioners—Annual Election for Chief and Assistant Engineers.

The Fire Commissioners met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing a Chief Engineer and Assistant, for the City Fire Department. For the position of Chief Engineer there were two candidates—Mr. Andrew J. Cupples, the present incumbent, and Wm. J. White, the present Assistant Engineer. The full board was present, and the election resulted in the choice of Mr. White for Chief Engineer, the vote standing 5 for that gentleman and 4 for Mr. Cupples. For Assistant Chief Engineer, the election resulted in the choice of Mr. John Hamill.

These gentlemen are elected to serve for the ensuing year. According to the provisions of the ordinance authorizing the increase of the salary of the Chief and Assistant Engineers, passed on the 21st of May last, the salary of the Chief is $1,500, and that of the Assistant $1,200 per annum.

A FALL OF THIRTY FEET.

Narrow Escape of Two Men.

A serious accident occurred yesterday on Short street, and though not fatal it was almost a miracle that it not prove such. Two men named Charles Matzinbacher and Louis Weise, were standing upon a platform at the tobacco manufactory of Messrs. W. & D. Rhinehart, engaged in elevating a package of tobacco, weighing probably two hundred pounds, to the third floor. The elevator had reached about half the distance, when the platform gave way and the men were precipitated to the cellar, a distance of about thirty feet.

Those who saw the accident and ran to the cellar, expected to find both of the men killed outright, and were considerably surprised to find the men alive, and not fatally injured. Weise escaped with an injured hand and two or three broken fingers, otherwise he was but little injured. Watzenbacher was less fortunate, having his right leg fractured and his right arm broken. The men were taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

There is quite an excitement in the Smith's Ferry Oil Region over the successful development of new territory situated near Ohioville. The Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railroad Company's doings will be deliberated upon by the Committee on Streets of East Birmingham. The Committee on City Property of the Allegheny Councils met last evening, approved the monthly bills and passed a resolution requesting permission from Councils to purchase the lot on the corner of Ohio avenue and Superior street, 48x120 feet, for $4,000. The Printing Committee also met and approved their monthly bills.

Two young men, attending the Fair at City Hall last night, quarreled about who should take a certain young lady home. They proposed to settle the question by a "stand-up" fight, but at the end of the first round the police interfered. The boys were taken to the tombs, where they left $15 each for their appearance, and the girl was obliged to go home unaccompanied by either of her admirers.

The Committee meet at Harrisburg on the 15th inst for organization.

George Hamilton, father and son, residing at St. Clair, Columbiana county, renewed their subscription to the Gazette yesterday, remarking that they had for more than fifty consecutive years been subscribers for and readers of the Gazette. This is another instance of the kind we so frequently record of the attachment that grows up and abides between a faithful journalist and its constant readers. Long life and happiness to the Hamiltons. May the Gazette continue to find favor with them.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Thirty-two victims of the diseases of drunkenness and ungovernable temper were brought before Mayor Blackmore yesterday morning to answer for deeds done the night before. The cases were variously disposed of, ranging from the nominal fine of one dollar and costs to sixty days under the watchful eye of Superintendent Cordier at the Work House.

Patrick Shields came before the Mayor and complained against Wm. McFetridge, charging him with having committed an aggravated assault and battery upon him. The parties are employed in Spencer & McKay's brewery.

Wm. Walker was charged with cruelly treating a horse. He entered bail for Court.

Before Alderman Strain, W. J. Murphy came yesterday and made an information charging Wm. Frees with larceny. Murphy resides in Allegheny, and he alleges that Frees entered his domicil the other evening and carried thence a large photographic likeness of one of his (the prosecutor's) ancestors. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Alderman strain is the referee in an affair which seems to have grown out of a family unpleasantness of no small proportions. Kate Calvert makes an information against B. Calvert, her husband, charging him with desertion, refusing to support, and assault and battery. Kate Kelly also charges Calvert with assault and battery, and Kate Calvert makes a like charge against Peter McCabe. Warrants were issued. The Calverts are residents of Third avenue, and the others live in Strawberry alley.

A. De Roy yesterday made information against Ann Williams, charging her with false pretense. The deponent, who is a pawnbroker, alleges that the defendant left a sewing machine at his office, claiming that it belonged to her, and upon which she drew a sum of money. Her representation proved false, for soon after the rightful owner came and took the machine away. The case was settled by the woman refunding the money and paying costs.

J. Lansruft, conductor of a car on the Citizens' Passenger Railway, made information against George Carr, before Alderman Donaldson, for obstrusting the car track. Warrant issued.

Mary Elkins yesterday made information before Alderman O'Donnell, charging John McDonald with larceny of $35. The prosecutor keeps a boarding house on Penn street, and alleged that the defendant stole the amount named from one of her boarders.

F. Bier, a butcher, yesterday made information before Alderman Koenig, against Mrs. A. A. Henry, charging her with false pretense. She represented that she would receive money to the amount of one hundred dollars per month. On this representation, the deponent alleges, she ran up a large bill for meat. He now finds her representations false, and she unable to pay the bill. Warrant issued.

Deputy Mayor Nichols yesterday fined John Gunnill twenty-five dollars and costs for abusing his wife.

George Hart for getting into a fight on Forty-eight street, was arrested and left a deposit with Deputy Mayor Nichols for a hearing.

Before Deputy Mayor Nichols, Ann Thomas charged Morgan Jones with disorderly conduct. The deponent is a sister-in-law of the accused, and alleges that he came home at midnight and turned the whole family out of doors, and behaved otherwise very disorderly. Warrant issued.

C. Schnele is charged by John Nusser, President of the Birmingham Bottling House, with using the trade mark and bottles of that company in the manufacture of mineral, pop, &c. A search warrant was issued and the works of the defendant at Temperanceville, were examined and a number of bottles were found which the prosecutor claimed belonged to the company. Schnele was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

The case of the man Myers, charged with trying to escape the payment of toll on the Monongahela bridge, indicted before Justice Barker, was let off this time by paying costs.

On the information of Joseph Buckmiller, Alderman D. L. Smith issued a warrant for the arrest of nine young men who are charged with assembling on Juniata street, Allegheny, and behaiving in a very disorderly manner.

Mayor Callow had three common cases before him yesterday morning.

DIVISION OF ALLEGHENY CITY.

Meeting of the Council Committee for the Division of Wards—Two New Wards Added.

The Committee of Allegheny Councils on the division of wards met last evening to consider a plan which the City Engineer had prepared for the purpose of dividing the Third, Fourth, Seventh and Eighth wards, and also creating two new ones. The following plan will be submitted to Councils for their approval this evening:

Third ward—Bounded by Ohio avenue, Federal street, Madison avenue and the city line.

Fourth ward—Bounded by Ohio street, Madison avenue, the Allegheny river and Federal street.

Seventh ward—From Madison avenue to O'Hara street; along O'Hara street to Vurial street; along Vurial to Villa, and from Villa to the city line.

Eighth ward—Bounded by Pine street, the Allegheny river and the city line.

Tenth ward—Bounded by Madison avenue, the Allegheny river, O'Hara and Pine streets.

Eleventh ward—All that part of Troy Hill east of Villa street.

Dedication of Lawrence School House.

The new Public School Building of the Fifteenth ward, which has been completed, and is now occupied, was dedicated on Tuesday, May 7th. There were two sessions of the exercises, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. The former was especially for the children, although a number of the parents and the teachers were present. Revs. R. Lea and Wm. B. Watkins addressed the children. Both the speakers were quite fortunate in their remarks, arousing the interest and enthusiasm of the children. Mr. Darling, the music teacher of the school, was present, and led the children in several songs appropriate to the occasion, which showed considerable music ability in the children, and that Mr. Darling knows how to bring it out.

The bell rang for the evening session at 7:30 o'clock, and in a very few minutes the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, with the parents of the children and the friends of education, and before the exercises commenced there was quite a crowd that could not be accommodated. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Rev. J. C. High. The regular programme of the evening was first disposed of, the meeting being addressed by Rev. John Wilkinson and T. D. Keller, members of the Board, Prof. G. J. Luckey and H. O. Gibbins, Principal. These addresses were interspersed with a number of pieces by the Allegheny Quartette Club, who acquitted themselves in their usual artistic and elegant manner. The public schools of this city are certainly highly favored in enjoying the services of these excellent teachers of music. After the regular order of exercises the meeting was addressed by the Superintendent of Schools for Allegheny county, Mr. Hartman, of the Central Board, and Mr. Ford, Principal of the Springfield school. The Chair was occupied by Wm. Jancey, Esq., the President of the Board who presided over the exercises with his usual ease and dignity. The other members of the Board took charge of the hall, and without a single unpleasant occurrence, and maintained most excellent order, and the Directors were the recipients of many congratulations from the highly delighted citizens of the ward, and visitors, on the elegance and completeness of the building, and the teachers on their bright prospects for a successful and pleasant school. The large audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Wm. B. Watkins. The interest and enthusiasm manifested by the citizens plainly show that the cause of popular education in the Fifteenth ward has received an impetus, which is brought to show its effects in the elevation and refinement of the present generation.

The Munson Lightning Rod.

MASSACHUSETTS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE,
AMHERST, MASS., March 4, 1868.

Gentlemen: I regard the Munson Copper Tabular Lightning Rod superior to anything before the public. It is a better conductor and less liable to fail from any cause to carry safely to the earth an electric discharge than an iron rod six times the size. It is firmly united so as to form a continuous conductor, and from its lightness and pliability is, when fastened to buildings, much less likely to break the insulators and get out of place than a heavy rod. By order of our Board, the Munson Rod has been attached to the six buildings of the State Agricultural College.

Delicate Creatures.—This is the phrase applied by His Blackness, the Moor of Venice, to the fair ladies of Italy. It was the lovely complexion of Desdemona, such a radiant contrast to his own, that won his heart; and sooth to say, every man of discernment considers a fair skin, like a sweet voice, "an excellent thing in woman." Now this is a charm which can be acquired. There is a healthful and odoriferous toilet article, known everywhere as Hagan's Magnolia Balm, which literally transfigures a cloudy or sallow skin, suffusing the discolored face, neck, arms and bosom with a soft, pearly tinge, and imparting to the surface a smoothness and a gloss like that of polished marble. Instead of clogging the pores, like the sticky enamels, or contracting them, and thus obstructing perspiration, like the astringement cosmetics, it cleanses the skin from all impurities and wonderfully improves its texture. This peculiarity is particularly appreciated by our rural belles, who find that the coarseness and roughness, which country air is apt to engender, are speedily removed from their faces, hands and arms, by this delightful preparation. Coal of good quality, and it is supposed in large quantity, has been discovered at Wytheville, Va.

In eighteen months four dealers in England have sold hydrate of chloral enough to put 36,000,000,000 people to sleep.

In Great Britain and Ireland there were 1,622 vessels built during 1871, with capacity amounting in the aggregate to 892,058.

The marine force of Prussia have for years been awarded prizes for markmanship, and are believed to be the best sharpshooters in the world.

It is said that a second stratum of valuable block coal underlies all the Brazil coal fields, Indiana, and that this deposit is much more free from sulphur than the upper stratum.

They have lately introduced into the street lamps of London, strips of looking-glass in the roofs. The reflection is said to throw three times as much light as the ordinary lamp.

A Cuban correspondent, after witnessing the manufacturing of cigars at Havana, writes that he is "glad he early formed the habit of cutting off the tip of his cigar, instead of biting it."

An obstinately long-lived old couple have insisted upon keeping married without getting divorced once for seventy years. To celebrate the occasion the "Pearl wedding," was invented.

The Ohio Legislature has passed a bill to compel life companies of other States, doing business in Ohio, to file a waiver of the right to transfer any case from the State to the United States courts.

They have gold in the hilly country of North Carolina, and it is said that a British company is working a mine which yields as high as $5,000 a month. That is not much, to be sure; but it may be valuable as an indication.

The Sabbath Recorder, the organ of the Seventh Day Baptists, which has for several years been published at Westerly, is to be removed to Alfred Centre, N. Y., the society having purchased it from the Rev. G. B. Utter, who has published it for a quarter of a century.

The Virginia Legislature has passed a bill imposing a license tax of $2000 upon other State insurance companies, and an annual tax of 1½ per cent. upon their gross receipts. This process will probably work pretty well until a million dollar fire at Richmond shall wipe out all the local companies.

The St. Louis Dispatch says that a certain class of young men in the city wear padded garments in order to protect themselves from sudden and unexpected though perhaps deserved cowhidings. One of the tailors makes a specialty of this kind of clothing, and it is said he is amassing an immense fortune.

The American Builder issues a wholesome warning against building a house with a whim in it. It is an expensive pleasure, for what suits you may not suit another; and when in these unstable times, the ownership of houses is constantly changing, one should be careful not to work a pet idea into good building material and afterward be unhappy because it is unsaleable.

A man named Springer, at Terre Haute, married a couple one day; sold all their furniture the next; in a short time afterward attended the wife medically; attended her funeral as an undertaker, bought the furniture, and the following Sabbath preached her funeral sermon—and in a short time married the former husband to another lady, and again sold them the furniture which he sold at the time of the first marriage.

The building which is to contain the world's exhibition at Vienna in 1873 is to consist of one long gallery eighty feet in width by about two thousand, nine hundred and twenty-five in length, with twenty cross galleries, each fifty-two feet wide and six hundred and fifty feet long. This peculiar structure is to be surmounted by an iron dome having a span of three hundred and thirty feet, or double that of St. Peter's at Rome. Five times as much space will be available as in the building at Paris.

Marriage of "Lothair."

"Lothair" is married; that is the young marquis of Bute, who is popularly supposed to be the original of Disraeli's hero, was on Tuesday wed to the Hon. Gwendoline Fitzalan Howard, daughter of Lord Howard. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor Capel, who also figures prominently in Mr. Disraeli's novel, at the oratory of St. Philip Neri. The congregation, admitted by tickets, was immense, and the spectators were repaid by such a sight as is seldom seen in England. The high altar supported ten guilt candlesticks, furnished with enormous candles and surrounded with flowers. The bridegroom arrived at twenty minutes to eleven, and was habited in full Highland dress. At eleven the bride arrived, and in a few minutes the short service of the Roman Catholic church made them man and wife. Mr. Disraeli was one of those who signed the register, and then the "nuptial mass" was performed. After an impressive address by Monsignor Capel, which produced a marked effect upon the hearers, the wedding party proceeded to Lord Howard's residence, where a numerous aristocratic party partook of breakfast. The "happy pair" proceeded at two P. M., by special train, en route to Cardiff. The bride's dress, it may interest your fair readers to know, was of white satin, covered with splendid point a Paiguille lace, and trimmed with orange blossoms. The squarely cut "corsage" was on one side ornamented with an orange blossom bouquet, on the other with diamond sprays. A tulle veil descending from the head enveloped the figure, and a wreath of orange blossoms crowned this fair gentlewoman's head. Her jewelry was unique and costly, as became a noble lady. A necklace of forty-one single brilliants of large size and unusual lustre, with ear-rings to match, and oriental pearl bracelets, were the "rich and rare" gems she wore. The "bright gold ring" was worn on the taper finger, instead of (as in the case of the Irish maiden) on her hand. The bride was waited upon by eight maidens "arrayed in" white muslin over taffeta, made with small flounces up the back, edged with Valenciennes lace and deep plisse across the front, and a very pretty tablier striped with Valenciennes insertion lined with pink crepe de Chine; Marie Antoinette fichus of same, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, white tulle bonnets trimmed with crepe de Chine, long tulle veils and bouquets of rosebuds and pink "may." There, I trust your lady readers will understand all this; I confess I do not, but I believe it is all true, and faith is a great thing now-a-days in such matters. The youthful pair—the marquis is 25 and the bride but 18 years of age—reached Cardiff at 7 P. M., where great preparations had been made to receive them.

Wool Crops of the World.

The following figures, taken from the Paris Journal des Economistes, are of interest, as showing the estimated production of wool in those countries which contribute to the European and American consumption of that staple:

ESTIMATED WOOL PRODUCTIONS OF THE WORLD IN 1871, IN POUNDS OF 454 GRAMMES.

England	159,969,000
Australia	152,500,000

The best practical agriculturalists in this and other countries admit that although the growing of sheep does not pay simply for their mutton and wool in thickly settled countries, yet it does pay as a means and an indispensible means of keeping up the land. Sheep culture is valuable in this, and a tariff protecting sheep culture is demanded for the renovation of the soil, otherwise the deterioration of the soil will in a short time far exceed the cheapness of foreign wools.

Soldiers' Homesteads.

A short time ago the telegraph gave information that Congress had passed a bill to enable discharged soldiers and sailors, or the widows of soldiers and sailors, to acquire homesteads on the public lands. The bill provides that the time of service of a soldier or sailor in the army or navy shall be deducted from the time now required by law to acquire a homestead. Under the present laws, any citizen of twenty-one years of age, or upward, can locate 160 acres of surveyed Government land at $1.25 per acre, or 80 acres of double-priced land, at $2.50 per acre, after five years of continuous residence thereon, and cultivation, can obtain a patent from the general Government without payment of any money. The bill lately passed allows the time served in the army or navy to be deducted from this five years, so that a discharged three years' soldier, or his widow, can acquire a homestead by making proof of only two years' residence. The bill goes no further than this—does not provide for any gratuity of land to the soldier or sailor further than is allowed under the homestead law, but reduces the time in which he acquired title. Those soldiers who served throughout the war need only reside on their land about one year before they are entitled to a patent from the Government, free of all expense, except a small fee to the Recorder or Register.

Donn Piatt says: "A distinguished diplomat, who had served some time in Washington, died the other day in Europe, and among his effects they found forty-two ultimatums and six hundred love letters from beautiful girls in Washington."

Samuel C. Taber, of the Elmira Advertiser, and a member of the New York Republican State Committee, was last week presented with a silver service and a gold watch—all costing $1,000—because, on his motion, the State Republican Convention meets in Elmira, the 15th instant.

A French paper, in commenting on the national subscription for the payment of the debt of Germany, notices, among other things, that General Trochu has contributed his plan; Jules Favre his tears; Jules Simon his portfolio; Glais Bizoin his head; Louis Blanc one of his books; M. Arago a hurrah; Victor Hugo his cap; Dufaure his resignation; and Ferry a Washington despatch.

John M. Barclay, the Journal Clerk of the lower house of Congress, has held that position for over thirty years. He is the author of "Barclay's Digest," which is considered the best parliamentary manual ever published, and has been the prop and mainstay of the Speakers for many terms. It is the deliberate opinion of the Speaker and ex-Speakers of the House that for the past fifteen or twenty years Barclay has not his equal as a Parliamentarian.

Fanny Fern says that when she sees "a pretty man, with an apple head and raspberry moustache with six hairs in it, paint on his cheek, and a little dot of a goatee on his chin, with pretty little blinking studs in his shirt bosom, and a little necktie that looks as if it would faint if it were rumbled, she always feels a desire to nip him with a pair of sugar tongues, drop him gently into a pot of cream, and strew pink rose leaves over the little remains."

The most touching eulogy, and the most comprehensive, probably, was uttered at the grave of Daniel Webster at the close of the funeral rites. A plain man, probably one of the neighbors of the deceased, came forward, stood at the grave, and said with quivering lips: "Daniel Webster, the world will be lonesome without you." The quality which won for Daniel Webster this touching eulogy is not his great and brilliant intellect, but his neighborly kindness.

Many persons will recollect the individual styling himself "Lord" Herbert Ainsley, who figured conspicuously in New York two or three years ago. It will be remembered he married a Boston lady of wealth and position, but ultimately deserted her and fled to England. It would appear that a reconciliation had been effected, for we read that Lord and Lady Ainsley are now in Florence, celebrated there, as they were here, for the great elegance of their entertainments.

Wm. B. Astor is thus noticed by a correspondent: The other day, as I was walking on Broadway, I saw Wm. B. Astor, the richest man in New York, walking with true democratic unpretension, and with the air of a man who was fully occupied but not over-burdened with business cares. Few of the hundreds whom he passed would have suspected that the portly, vigorous man, dressed in plain but scrupulously neat black, so as to look like an attendant at a funeral, with rather gross features, florid complexion and grizzled mustache and whiskers, after the manner of Kaiser William, was the owner of acres of real estate and also of scores of dwellings in this wealthy city. It was a sunny spring morning and he wore no overcoat. He seemed in the best of health, and walked with a quick and firm step, looking down at the pavement every few minutes, and then up again with a rapid movement, as if he was startled at something. He face is neither hard nor genial, but has a Dutch stolidity, and not much animation about it. Still, I imagine it to be the face of a good father and husband, who looks out for his own interests and is not troubled by any absurd notions of giving his money away to people who would not thank him for the gift. He works hard, takes care of his vast property, and, except for the glory of the thing, I can't see that he is much happier than the average of humanity.

William S. Groesbeck, the Cincinnati politician, holds a tract of 170 acres called "Burnet woods," which is within the city limits, and two miles and a half from the center of business. The city wants this land for a public park. Mr. Groesbeck asks $516,000 for it; and yet, until the recent valuation of $146,000, it has been taxed for only $76,000.

The New York press talk earnestly of the probabilities of a water famine in that city, the coming summer. The present supply of water is about eighty million gallons daily, and the capacity of the aqueduct is about one hundred and twenty millions. One paper says that from two to three million gallons are consumed daily in sprinkling the streets.

A new process of manufacturing steel, the invention of a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y., has recently been introduced. It consists in the combination of chrome ore, in the place of carbon, with iron. The metal is melted in crucibles in a furnace, gas being used for producing heat. The iron bars are put into the crucibles, into which a powdered preparation of chrome ore is also produced. Steel made by this process is asserted to be capable of withstanding a greater strain than ordinary carbon steel, and to be made regular in quality. Chrome ore is obtained near Baltimore, Md.

Of these ships 24 were on the China station, 10 East Indies, 5 Australia, 10 Pacific station, 5 south-east coast of America, 12 the Cape and west coast of Africa, 20 North America and West Indies, 17 Mediterranean, 14 at Plymouth, 20 Portsmouth, 5 Sheerness, 1 Woolwich, 1 Pembroke, 5 Ireland, 8 Squadron of Evolution, 14 on particular service, 5 on surveying service, 6 unappropriated and fitting out, 3 stationery ships, yachts, &c., and 26 coastguard service, including drill ships for the naval reserve, but excluding 25 coastguard tenders, late cruisers. The number on foreign stations includes ships ordered to return to England. At the same date, April 1871, there were 270 ships and vessels in reserve, not including ships building, ships and vessels lent for charitable and other purposes, mortar floats, mortar vessels, watch vessels, coastguard tenders, and yard craft.
